Allies Block Red Zone Railroads

Move Hits At Berlin Blockade

Germans Oust Police Chief

(Compiled from Wire Services)

BERLIN — The United States and Britain banned movements of trains today to and from the Russian zone of Germany. American officials said "technical difficulties" caused the stoppage.

In another development, the Berlin city government ordered the dismissal of Police President Paul Markgraf who was appointed to his position by the Russians in 1945.

Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, deputy mayor of Berlin, said he had handed Markgraf a letter of dismissal, ordering him to turn over his office to his assistant. The move was expected to have wide repercussions in this four-power city.

The joint American-British action appeared to be the most positive counter-move yet taken by the Western Allies to break the Russian blockade of Berlin, now a month old.

Gens. Lucius D. Clay and Sir Brian Robertson, the American and British military governors, took the action at a conference in Frankfurt. The restrictions are effective at once. The prohibition is against the movement of all trains "originating or terminating" in the Soviet zone.

When the Russians stopped traffic on the long railway between Berlin and the western zones of Germany, they asserted "technical difficulties" were the cause.

SENDS MESSAGE

Maj. Gen. Charles Gross, deputy chief of transportation for the Anglo-American area of western Germany, sent a message to transportation officers which said:

"Due to technical difficulties, bi-zonal authorities cannot in August accept for movement across the United States and United Kingdom zone railway traffic, exclusive of mail, originating in or terminating in the Soviet zone."

Gross specified that any shipments which might be crossing the Russian zone in either direction would be permitted. Thus, for example, Poland or Czechoslovakia could ship goods across the occupation zones without hindrance by the new regulations.

The order in effect cut the Russian zone from all forms of surface transportation also traversing the western zones. Barge traffic has been paralyzed for weeks. Thirty-four barges bound for Berlin from the west were being held by the Russians, and 24 Soviet craft were interned in the British zone.

Jets Arrive In Germany

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany —(AP)— Sixteen jet fighter planes ready for action bulwarked United States air power in Germany today—and 75 more will arrive soon. In Moscow, Russia unveiled several new jet fighter planes and bombers at the annual Soviet air show.

The U. S. Lockheed Shooting Stars roared into this former Nazi air base yesterday, completing a 5,060-mile flight from Selfridge, Mich., in only 12 hours and 10 minutes flying time. They cruised at an average of 450 miles an hour.

The trail-blazing flight marked the first west-east crossing of the Atlantic by jets. Their arrival coincided with intensified training activity by British and American military aircraft in Britain and Germany.

The jets will train here for several weeks. In central England, 60 U. S. superfortresses also are engaged in what is officially called a training mission. Seventy-five additional jet fighters will be shipped here from the United States soon, said Col. Malcolm Stewart, the base commander.

Plan Murder Charge

WOOSTER — (AP) — Formal charges may be filed today, police said, against Harold E. Murphy, 30, jailed yesterday in the death of a neighbor. Police said Murphy shot and killed a neighbor, Gordon Kurtz, 36, near the Murphy home Saturday night but claimed he was only trying to "scare" Kurtz.

Public Sees Things It Can't Seize

Startled Americans are having a new spell of spots before their skies. Flying saucers, which cracked up 13 months ago after holding first place in the rumor run, are back, according to reports from Yakima valley in Washington.

And in Atlanta, Ga., there is still speculation about the mysterious "something" which two airlines pilots saw Saturday. They described it as a wingless mystery plane, spurting fire.

But that's not all. Apparently just to keep folks from straining their necks looking upward, Ogopogo, the sea serpent with a head resembling a sheep, has appeared again in Okanagan Lake, British Columbia, it is claimed.

Nation-Wide Drive Begun By Wallace

Nominee Launches 'Political Crusade'

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Henry A. Wallace rolled his new Progressive party today down a road he and his followers promised leads to a give-and-take peace with Russia.

With an assertion that "we've just begun to roll," the third party presidential nominee set out to plant in every state the seed of what he called a new political crusade.

It was born here in a boisterous, singing, shouting convention that ended last night in seven and one-half hours of free-for-all debate over a party platform.

Wallace, glued to a television set while his friends were adopting a platform placing "joint responsibility" of the United States and Russia to keep the peace, then whirled off to a Youth for Wallace meeting.

As teen agers packed into a jammed hotel ballroom cheered lustily, the former vice president grinned widely, shoved back an unruly forelock and said:

"Gosh, it's swell to meet with folks who are not playing it safe."

That was a keynote of this first Progressive party convention, which picked Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho as No. 2 man on the third party presidential ticket headed by Wallace.

The communist issue plagued the new party formers throughout their meeting.

It broke out in the Sabbath day platform session when James Hayford of Westburke, Vt., a delegate, offered from the floor an amendment to put the party on record against indorsing any nation's foreign policy.

But Hugh Delacy of Seattle, Wash., a former congressman, got the biggest hand and the biggest vote with a plea to delegates not to yield to "outside pressure" but to take a stand for a firm, solid basis of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Man Awakes To Find His Trousers Gone

A numble thief went to a lot of trouble for $5 and a pair of pants early Sunday morning.

While Russell Williams, 303 Wayne street, slept, the thief climed a tree at the rear of Williams' home, jumped to the porch roof, then to the bedroom window where he pried open a screen, entered the bedroom and snatched Williams' trousers.

The trousers held a wallet containing $5.

Police are investigating.

Commission Asks Ohio Turnpikes

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Ohio needs more highways than the general taxpayer can afford.

That, in effect, was the statement today of Ernest M. Green of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Turnpike commission. The commission will try to persuade the legislature which meets in January to permit private capital to construct toll superhighways in Ohio, similar to the famed Pennsylvania turnpike.

3 to Pick Board Members

Governor Names County Group

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today named three Mansfielders to a committee to recommend persons for appointment to the county's new draft board.

Appointed to the committee were Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer, and G. J. Kochenderfer, editor the The News-Journal.

The county is expected to have only one board since the boards will be set up on the basis of one for every 100,000 population. Richland county's population is well under that figure. The Richland board will be known as Board 103.

The county recommending committees, composed in each case of the common pleas judge, the probate judge, and one layman, will submit its selections to the governor, who, in turn, will forward the recommendations to President Truman who will make the formal appointments.

Selecting committees in surrounding counties follow.

Ashland county—H. E. Culbertson, common pleas judge; S. H. Boffenmeyer, probate judge, and Edgar Koehl, publisher of the Ashland Times-Gazette.

Crawford county — C. U. Ahl, common pleas judge; Miss Constance Keller, probate judge, and A. D. Neff, retired farmer.

Morrow county—Leland Rutherford, common pleas judge; Conard Clouse, probate judge, and Dr. F. M. Hartsock.

Knox county—Charles D. Hayden, common pleas judge; William H. Clarke, probate judge, and Justin Devalon, editor of the Mt. Vernon News.

Huron county — Luther Van Horn, common pleas judge; R. J. Detter, probate judge. (Third member of the selecting committee not yet announced.)

Maj. Gen. Chester W. Goble said 127 boards would administer the 1948 selective service act in Ohio. During World War II there were 330 draft boards functioning in Ohio.

Registration of 18-to-25-year-old youths will begin Aug. 30 and end Sept. 18.

Local draft board members must be at least 30 years old, Gen. Goble said. They cannot be members of the armed forces or any reserve, he was informed by national selective service heads.

Sees Reward As Helpful

Police Chief Jesse J Schwab said today that he and the police department" appreciate the offering of a $250 reward by The News-Journal in the Crescent cafe bombing."

The News-Journal set up the reward for information leading to the apprehension of the person who planted a home-made bomb at the rear of the cafe July 5.

"The reward might result in some new 'tips' which will lead to the apprehension of the criminal. With something like this, you never can tell what information a reward will turn up," Schwab said.

Chief Schwab added that the department had "not run out of clues." He said the search for the man who planted the bomb is continuing. Two policemen and two firemen were injured as they attempted to put the bomb in a tub of water to lessen the intensity of the explosion

Jap Farmers Barter Girls

TOKYO —(INS)— Tokyo newspapers reported today that Japanese farmers are selling their daughters again.

The daughter-selling, officially banned under the occupation, has been revived as the economic conditions of the countryside worsen.

Japan's traditionally overcrowded farmlands have to support an even greater ratio of the expanding population as the Japanese find it increasingly difficult to live in cities whose industries have failed to recover and whose prices have continued to zoom.

Puts Blame On Pal

Children Orphaned 'Without a Reason'

By DWYER CLAY

Robert Murl Daniels, surviving member of the mad-dog duo who killed six persons, today charged that his trigger-happy accomplice, John Coulter West, unnecessarily orphaned the four young children of driveaway trucker Orville Taylor of Niles, Mich.

Daniels, still boastful of his own bloody crimes, accused West of killing Taylor and James Smith, a Tiffin area farmer Thursday night.

"There was no reason for killing Smith," Daniels said. "I bawled Johnny out then. But I really gave him hell when he knocked off the truck driver (Taylor). There was enough heat on us already. But Johnny was trigger-happy."

The orphaned children are Billy Taylor, 7, Linda 8 months, Sherry, 3, and Tommy 5.

They and their mother were left without a father and husband when the two mad dog killers woke Taylor out of a sleep in the cab of his truck where he had been resting in a roadside park near Tiffin.

SHOT IN FACE

Without a word of explanation Orville Taylor was taken from his truck into the woods where he was shot twice in the face before he even knew what was happening.

Daniels said he "hooked up" with West because, "He was a good guy who saw things the same way I did. He had a grudge, too."

West was to be buried in his home town, Parkersburg, W Va., today.

He will be interred in Mt. Olivet cemetery after funeral services by Lutheran minister Rev. Logan Martin.

Morbidly curious Parkersburg residents walked in and out of the funeral home in a steady stream for a look at the 22-year-old killer.

West, who in a month since he left his Parkersburg home June 22, turned from what his mother said was a "model son" into a cold-blooded killer.

Sheriff F. Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county, who captured Daniels without a struggle while Sgt. Leonard Conn shot it out with West said the young Columbus killer would not be released by Van Wert county until it has been definitely determined that Conn will recover.

Conn was shot in the chest. He shot West between the eyes with a sub-machine gun after being wounded.

Daniels meanwhile appeared to be enjoying the publicity given him as he rested in the Mercer county jail where he was brought from Van Wert Friday night.

Still boastful of his part in the 14-day six murder spree Daniels has welcomed all newspaper reporters and photographers.

"My only regret is what this means to my parents," he said. "I hope my folks don't come to see me. I couldn't stand that. I had a happy home life, you know. Dad often tried to tell me the difference between right and wrong after I got in my first few little scrapes. I told him I'd be good."

He ended his interview with these words:

"Come to my last supper, fellas; I'll show you how to eat."

Arabs Offer Truce Plan

BEIRUT —(UP)— The state of Israel had a conditional offer from the Arab states today for the demilitarization of Jerusalem and continuance of the truce in Palestine

Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab league, set forth the conditions in a public communique on his recent conference here with Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Holy Land mediator.

The Arabs demanded:

1. A halt to all Jewish immigration to the Holy Land during the truce.

2. That Arab refugees be returned to their homes in Jewish-held territory.

3. That the Jews be prevented from importing arms

Legislators Answer Call

Truman's Message Due On Tuesday

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The GOP-controlled 80th Congress convened in extra session at President Truman's call today, ready to give the President a firm "No" on meat rationing and price controls.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin jr. and Senate President Arthur Vandenberg called the two houses into session at noon (EDT), after a leadership meeting to lay out the Republican plan of action.

The President will appear tomorrow before a joint meeting of House and Senate to deliver in person his legislative requests for an anti-inflation program and other laws he considers necessary now.

Mr. Truman invited Democratic leaders from each house to come to his office for a preview of his message. He expected to complete the final draft during the day and show it to four Democratic senators and four Democratic representatives late in the afternoon.

Despite an expected request for them by the President there was little prospect the Republicans would permit the return of rationing and price controls.

Huge Airplane Makes Flight

PATUXENT NAVAL AIR STATION, Md. —(AP)— The Constitution, biggest airplane ever to cross the country, did it in 10 hours and 19 minutes yesterday.

The 184,000-pound giant second of two built by Lockheed Aircraft as naval transports, flew a 2,600-mile course from Moffett Field, Calif., at an average speed of about 260 miles an hour.

The Navy has not yet accepted either of the giant planes. They were built at a cost of $27,000,000. The first one still is full of flight test gear. The second is equipped as a combined passenger and cargo plane, with 92 seats on the upper deck and 7375 cubic feet of cargo space below. The lower deck can accommodate 76 passengers.

PLANES VISIT ARABIA

ADEN — (AP) — Three American B-29's circling the globe landed at this British port in southern Arabia this morning. They hopped here from Tripoli, Libia.

Institution Is Described as 'Crime School'

In the wake of the mad-dog slayings of six persons, including three Mansfielders, the spotlight of public attention focused today on Ohio's parole system and conditions at the Ohio State Reformatory here.

At noon, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert met in Columbus with the state welfare director and the parole commission to plug loopholes in the parole system.

At the same time, a Cleveland man who was an inmate at the Mansfield reformatory charged that the Mansfield institution "is a crime school, not a reform school."

It was also learned that Willis "Red" Harris, reformatory guard, whom killer Robert Murl Daniels said he and John West came to Mansfield to "get," had served 18 months in the Ohio penitentiary for shooting a reformatory parolee on Feb. 9, 1942.

The shooting occurred six months after Harris resigned as guard at the institution to operate a farm southeast of Mansfield, near Lucas.

'Skeleton' Charge to Be Investigated

Glattke 'Interested' In Daniels' Remark

Mansfield Reformatory and and Richland county officials said today they were "interested in" and planned to investigate the charge by Robert Murl Daniels, confessed slayer of three members of the John Elmer Niebel family, that a reformatory inmate was beaten to death by guards.

Daniels maintains that he can show the skeleton of a prisoner who had been beaten to death by OSR guards: "The skeleton," he insisted, "is still on the grounds."

Arthur L. Glattke, OSR superintendent, said today that he would like to know more about it. "I'm curious," he said.

"We have a cemetery on the grounds, and occasionally we have a death from illness, but the deaths are reported and death certificates are properly filled out."

"I know nothing about the skeleton Daniels refers to," Glattke said, "but it sounded as though he meant the skeleton was lying about somewhere. We would like to know more about it so we can lay the body to rest and investigate cause of death." Glattke promised an immediate investigation. He said Daniels would be questioned further about the charge.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson also was curious about Daniels' charge.

"I didn't hear Daniels say anything about it when I talked to his," Robinson said, "but I naturally want to know more about it."

According to the Mansfield News-Journal report of the Harris trial in Common Pleas court, Harris shot the parolee, James Wilson, following an argument in Harris's bedroom. Harris was confined to a cast and bed-ridden at the time, due to a back injury suffered in a farm accident several months before.

Harris was committed to the penitentiary on April 2, 1942, to serve a term of one to 20 years for shooting with intent to wound. He was received at the institution on April 6, 1942.

Harris's only comment was: "I suppose I went too far," when Judge C. M. Huston asked him to explain why he shot Wilson in the abdomen, seriously injuring Wilson, who had been paroled to him. Harris offered no defense of his act in court.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of the reformatory said Wilson told Harris he was going to quit work at Harris's farm when the shooting

Niebel Received Warning, Friend Says

John Niebel, Ohio reformatory farm superintendent, who was slain last Wednesday with his wife and daughter, was warned about two weeks before the brutal slaying that he would be "wiped out," according to a friend who asked that his name be withheld.

The call came at 3 a. m., and Niebel recognized the voice and called the man by name. However, he seemed to think so little about the incident that the friend did not question him further. The friend quoted Niebel as saying:

"The doctor told me I had an enlarged heart. Well, maybe I won't have to worry about my heart if that telephone conversation is true."

took place. Glattke said that Harris told Wilson he'd have to report to the reformatory before he could leave the farm and that Harris termed the shooting as preventing an escape.

RETURNED TO POST

Glattke said he reappointed Harris as guard on March 5, 1944, on the basis of "an excellent record of 18 years prior to his resignation."

Harris was first appointed as guard at the reformatory on April 7, 1923.

Glattke said that Harris had signed the parole papers to get Wilson out of the reformatory and that Wilson had been paroled in Harris's care.

Glattke said that two former inmates of the reformatory are now employed at the institution in official capacities and "work out very well."

"We expect the public to hire the men after they serve their

Agents Clear, States Geyer

"Gangsters and not state liquor agents are responsible for the alleged shakedowns of permit holders in Crawford county," T. E. Geyer, state liquor enforcement chief, announced today.

Geyer, in a telephone conversation to the News-Journal, said that his personal investigation revealed "no state agents are guilty of shaking down tavern owners."

"We found that a number of gamblers and racketeers were involved but no liquor men," he said.

Meanwhile, two former state liquor agents—Joseph Holland of Cleveland and Leonard Strauss of Middletown—have noted an appeal from a bribery sentence in Mahoning county.

Both men were found guilty of soliciting a bribe from a Mahoning county tavern operator. They received sentences of one to 10 years in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. Both were released on $3,000 bond each.

When asked if he planned a "shake-up" of the department in light of the recent developments, including charges that agents were allegedly "coercing" Crawford county permit dealers, Geyer said his hands were tied by "existing civil service employment laws."

Two Drown In Lake

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Paul Kmiec, 40, and Frank Olbrys, 48, drowned in Lake Erie yesterday a mile off shore when their rowboat capsized. A companion, Joseph G. Kaminski, 52, was rescued when an outbound freighter crew heard his cries for help. Bodies of the victims were being sought by the coast guard.

Tito's Forces Flay Pravda

BELGRADE — (INS) — Yugoslav communists assailed their soviet colleagues for the first time today with a bitter denunciation of Pravda, newspaper of the Russian communist party.

The Yugoslavs, in their fifth party congress in Belgrade, voted a resolution which accused Pravda of "calumnies" and "falsehoods."

The resolution marked a sharp break with previous tactics of the Yugoslavs in their fight against the Moscow-dominated Cominform.

Shaw Reaches 92nd Birthday

The Dublin-born sage celebrated his 92nd birthday today.

BULLETINS

Bookie Joint Closed

Mansfield's horse race bet booking establishment, long operated at 12½ South Main street, was closed today, the first time since operations were resumed at the expiration of the "permanent" eight-week closing ban imposed Feb. 1 by Police Chief Jesse Schwab. There was no explanation of the closing today, and so far as is known, no official action preceded the closing. Chief Schwab's comment was "I don't know anything about it."

Body Found In Car

The body of George Fancher, 193 East Third street, was found slumped over in the rear seat of an automobile on Longview avenue near North Main street at 1:10 p. m. today by Richard Weiss and Blake Kirsch, R. D. 2, Mansfield. Police said a .12 gauge shotgun was found beside the body and that they believed Fancher had taken his own life. Witnesses said the car had been parked on the road most of the morning.

Westbrook Pegler

Wallace Avoids Chance to Deny He Wrote Peculiar 'Guru' Letters

PHILADELPHIA—Henry Wallace conducted an exercise called a press conference as a sort of final practice for his nomination by the communists and had the misfortune to conk himself in the flask with his back-swing. Old Bubblehead showed up twelve minutes late at a meeting in a chaste little Grecian pigeon-loft just under the roof of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

Norman Thomas, the ancient Socialist, present as a reporter for the Denver Post, teed off with a question whether bubblehead ever haf condemned the imprisonment of some communists of the Trotzky heresy under the same law which now has fetched a band of Stalinite bolsheyiks into the federal court in New York.

Wallace at first gave him the other-handed or yes-and-no treatment and landed facing four ways with a brassy chord from Union Square. However, he did come out against the law which finally had caught a mess of his own followers.

Now, from some evil agent of the capitalist press on the right side of the aisle, there came the question of the goofy guru letters. Did he write them or did he not? Bubblehead returned the same answer that he has been using with success clear across the country and back: He was having no discussion with any stooge of Westbrook Pegler.

It was Mr. Pegler who published the letters last winter and, with sonorous pomposity, demanded in the public interest whether they were written by Henry Wallace.

The heckler vanished into a pitiful poultice of limp seersucker, but another one sprang up to say that Mr. Pegler's personality lovable though it be, had nothing to do with the case. Again Bubblehead spurned the issue.

Meanwhile, photographers with Gestapo rigs were squinting through the sights and grinding footage of Mr. P. for the G.P.U. against the day of the revolution. He maintained an expression of noble unconcern, but the commotion grew until it was a question whether Mr. Wallace or Mr. P. was holding this press conference.

After a third fellow had been destroyed, a tall, not unhandsome chap arose, a man of spiritual mien and prematurely gray, to declare: "My name is Westbrook Pegler, Mr. Wallace. You twice referred to the subject of letters in your opening remarks and you have reminded us journalists of the important duty of getting all the available facts.

"Therefore, I ask you to say whether you did or did not write certain letters to Nicholas Roerich, addressing him as 'Dear Guru,' and to his wife as "Modra'."

"I never engage in any discussion whatsoever with Westbrook Pegler," Bubblehead replied. He may have said more, but Mr. Pegler by this time was so dazzled by the fierce white flame of notoriety that he fluttered down, snorting with an emotion which he hopes the bolsheviks mistook for virtuous scorn. Confidentially, it was stage-fright.

A lady journalist, Mary Spargo, of the Washington Post, now arose to say that she would not be called a stooge for Mr. Pegler, that she did not know the same and, on a note of mingled bigotry and professional envy, that she did not like his journalism.

Nevertheless, she felt justified in demanding an answer.

She was justified, at that, because the person who wrote those letters unquestionably was goofy and forever disqualified for the presidency of anything outside certain institutions for the confinement of the maladjusted.

Nevertheless, Bubblehead still refused and thereafter turned down the stately Henry L. Mencken of Baltimore, who, being an atheist, was ready to swear on a city directory that he put only his own questions.

Actress, Producer Can't Agree; Marx Brothers Still Together

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Samuel Goldwyn is seeking a young stage actress to replace Cathy O'Donnell as Farley Granger's teammate.

Only a few weeks ago, Goldwyn was hailing the O'Donnell-Granger duo as his greatest love team since Vilma Banky and Rod LaRoque. Then the executive and Miss O'Donnell encountered some differences of opinion and her contract was ended "by mutual agreement."

Plans are still going ahead for a Sept. 1 start of "Roseanna McCoy," a backwoods story which was to star the romantic pair. Goldwyn's casting director flew east this week to hunt for a new girl.

That's something new for the boys, who are often forecasting their breakup. They will do a picture based on their lives after this one, and let's hope there'll be many more. Harpo says their changed attitude has something to do with a letter from their uncle, veteran actor Al Shean. He signed it, "82—and still looking forward to next week."

FCC Inquiry Reported On In Capital

Probers Already At Work on Files

Investigation of the Federal Communications commission, voted in the closing hours of the 80th Congress, now is under way, it was reported today from Washington.

Investigators for the special congressional committee already have started combing the files of FCC, according to a signed article by Ed Keys, printed in Broadcasting magazine, leading trade journal of the radio industry.

The article reported that investigators already are interviewing FCC personnel, examining records and organization structure and generally laying groundwork for public hearings tentatively set for late August or early September.

It also is reported that an undisclosed number of investigators are searching files of the commission amassing information for the probers' use.

LAMB PROBE DUE

There also were Washington reports that the investigators are preparing now to look into the granting of five radio broadcasting permits early this year to Toledo Lawyer Edward Lamb, who had been blisteringly criticized as being affiliated and sympathetic to communist-connected organizations and author of red-tinged writings.

Word from Washington indicated that there is a possibility of a meeting of the investigating committee this week in the capital.

The select committee of five named for the probe includes Rep. Forest A. Harness, R-Ind.; Rep. Leonard Hall, R-N.Y.; Charles H. Elston, R-Ohio; J. Percy Priest, D-Ark., and Oren Harris, D-Ark.

The Washington article stated that capital observers see the possibility that hearings in the inquiry are apt to bring one of the longest parades of witnesses ever to air their views before a committee instructed to present legislative recommendations in radio legislation.

Ex-Richland Resident Dies

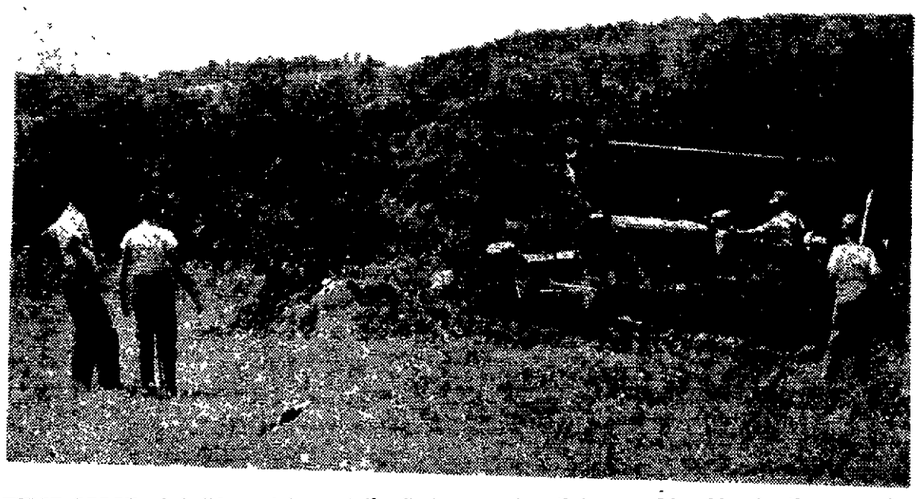
Charles Alfred Beer, 56, former Mansfield resident, died at his home in Trenton, Mich., Saturday afternoon following a brief illness.

Mr. Beer was born near Shenandoah, Jan. 17, 1892, and spent his early life south of Mansfield, moving to Michigan 20 years ago.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Manuel Beer, Mansfield; his wife, Glenna; seven children, Mrs. Murial Mallott, Mansfield; Mrs. Winifred O-Jibway and Mrs. Laurabell Bennett of Dearborn, Mich.; James Beer of Flatrock, Mich.; Rexford, Alfred jr. and Constance, all of Trenton, Mich., and 11 grandchildren; seven brothers, Harry, Martin, George, Albert, Chester, Carl and Richard, and one sister, Mrs. Grace Norick, all of Mansfield.

Services will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday with burial at Trenton, Mich.

NEW POOL SITE—Boy Scouts survey the hole which will become a 75-foot by 30-foot cement swimming pool. The pool, which is expected to be completed by October, will have showers and dressing rooms on a level with the pool and will accommodate 150 boys. The new pool is part of an improvement project planned since the 75-acre site was purchased in 1941. The project is expected to be completed by June 15, 1949, and official dedication ceremonies will be held on that date.



FIRST SCOOP—A bulldozer takes out the first scoop of earth in ground-breaking for the new swimming pool at Boy Scout Camp Avery Hand jr., 2½ miles south of Ontario. The boys watching the ceremony are part of the group of 30 boys attending camp at the time.

Payne Held In Dayton

Link Ex-UE Agent To Strike Row

Forrest Payne, former business agent for Local 758, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers—CIO in Mansfield, was held by Dayton authorities today on suspicion, stemming from violence in an 82-day strike of Univis Lens company employes.

Payne was held in Dayton city jail at 8:30 a. m. today when he was believed to be one of the union's trouble shooters who helped instigate a flare of violence on June 15.

Meanwhile, Univis company officials started a "back to work" movement today, promising employes a wage increase and fair play to everyone who returned to their jobs within three days. At noon count, 250 employes had reported back to work.

The back to work movement followed a de-certification vote handled by the Labor Relations Board at the company Saturday, in which representation by the union was voted down by employes by a count, 302 to 272.

Payne, believed "ousted" by union officials from his Mansfield post, was replaced by Arthur Wernick about the first of this year.

3,500 Hear Concerts, Attend Vesper Rites

Taking advantage of the bright, cool weather, an estimated 3,500 persons attended three outdoor events last night in Mansfield.

Largest crowd—nearly 2,500 persons—heard the weekly band concert at Stadium field. Five hundred attended the Smart band concert at North Lake park and a similar crowd was reported at the vesper service in South park where Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church was the speaker.

"We Americans are a nation of sloganists," Rev. Roller told his audience. "'One of the slogans given to us in religion is 'You can't take it with you' as far as money is concerned.

"But I've been thinking of the things you can take with you," the pastor said, "They are the best things in life. I would list them as happiness and joy given to others; not money but things money can do for you and with you, and things creative and the sacrifices made. All these things you can take with you."

Alan Abel, national champion drummer, drew applause from the crowd at Stadium field when he presented the technique of drumming from the beginning process until a finished drummer is produced.

Three other drummers from the 40 members of Local 159 of the American Federation of Musicians who made up the band joined Abel in a drummers' quartet.

Next week the final concert will be played at Stadium field.

At North Lake park Barbara and Mary Louise Jones sang "The Church in the Wildwood" and other selections.

An attentive audience enjoyed the selections from "Show Boat" sung by Mary Shreffler and Elaine Wilkins. Fred Holdsworth, father of David Holdsworth, accordion soloist, played a harmonica solo.

During a novelty arrangement of "Dancing Tambourines" children in the audience were given tambourines to join in the music making. Then the audience joined the children in singing "God Bless America."

When Eugene Smart, conductor of the accordion band, saw one of his former pupils, Sheldon Perrin, in the audience he called him to the stage. Perrin was given a banjo and joined the band in playing several numbers.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

S. Glenn Vinson, president of the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company, was receiving congratulations on his birthday today. Last night members of the family attended a dinner in his honor at the Vinson home, Glenleigh farms on Cook road. Vinson, a native of North Carolina, came to Mansfield in 1898. He organized the Ideal Electric in 1903, serving as secretary and general manager. In 1926 he become president. His hobby is breeding and showing Tennessee walking horses.

Also celebrating a birthday today is Earl Paxton, salesman for the Ohio Public Service company. Paxton lives at 21 Parkwood boulevard.

MINGLES WITH NOTABLES—

Miss Eileen D'Donnell, daughter of J. F. O'Donnell, 821 Maple street, had no idea when she went to Washington, D. C., to visit her grandmother, Mrs. William F. O'Donnell, that she would be hobnobbing with diplomats. But that's just what she did. Last week she was a guest at a reception given in honor of George Price Shaw, American ambassador to Nicaragua. She was one of 200 who gathered to pay their respects to the US member of the diplomatic corps. Among the guests, Miss O'Donnell said in a letter, were Alferdo Ferryros, the Peruvian ambassador, and Dr. Juan Bautista de Lavalle of Peru, and many other notables. Miss O'Donnell expects to return home Aug. 1.

LOSE SOMETHING?—

The Girl Scout office is not running a lost and found department, but it would appreciate it if campers would call for the variety of articles which they left at Camp Niniwan. The day camp closed July 2 and since then Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director, has been keeping a number of sweaters, coats, situpons, cups, and even handkerchiefs with money in them in the hopes that their owners would claim them. The Girl Scout office will close Aug. 7 for a vacation period so Scouts who left something at the camp should call at the office before that date.

4 Other Ohioans Lose Lives

4 Mansfielders Suffer Injuries

Howard C. Baum, 50, of Ashland, was killed and five Mansfield area residents were injured in two week-end traffic accidents.

Baum died early today in a Toledo hospital after he was struck by a taxicab last night in Ottawa Lake, Mich., a Toledo suburb.

Ohio counted at least seven dead in accidents over the week-end, including four in traffic. Baum's death was not included in the Ohio fatality list.

Police said Baum was struck as he stepped from an auto driven by Harry V. Pence, also of Ashland, to inspect the coupling and lights between the car and a trailer being towed.

The taxi smashed into Baum as he stood between the car and the trailer, and overturned both.

A second passenger in the car, Virgil F. Miller, of Ashland, suffered cuts and chest injuries.

DRIVER HELD

Witnesses said the taxi was traveling on the wrong side of the road. The taxi driver was held pending investigation.

Baum was employed as a molder at the Mansfield Brass company for the past several years. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the local Masonic lodge. He was on vacation when the accident occurred.

Besides his wife, Rilla, he leaves one daughter, Eilee and a stepson, Dean Billheimer, all of Ashland.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. (DST) Wednesday at the Gilbert funeral home. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

Ohio traffic victims included:

Carl H. Vining, 44, of Kilbourne, and Dance C. Condit, 56, of Condit, killed in a two-auto collision near Delaware.

Jason Hobensack, 83, of Martins Ferry, who died of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile Friday night.

Robert Kizer, 24, Tiffin, killed in an automobile accident in Fremont.

Four Mansfielders were injured, none seriously, early Sunday when the car in which they were riding overturned on Springmill street. Police said the car was crowded to the curb by an unidentified car.

Treated at General hospital and released were: Danville Tackett, 26, Mansfield, R. D. 2, driver of the car; James Tackett, 36, Mansfield, R. D. 3; Ollie Tackett, 19, Mansfield, R. D. 2, and Jess Hall, Mansfield, R. D. 2. All suffered lacerations and bruises of the head.

According to the driver's statement, given to police, the Tackett car was traveling southeast on Springmill street about 2 a. m. Sunday when a car, coming from the northwest crowded the car to the side of the street, where the Tackett car struck a truck, owned by Joseph Freedman of Cleveland.

The truck, parked in front of 379 Springmill street, then rolled forward 20 feet, where it hit a parked car, owned by V. W. Cope of Detroit, Mich. License number of the second car was given to police.

Adam Merkle Dies at 68

Adam Merkle sr., 68, a retired building contractor, died at his home, 219 Sycamore street, early today following an extended illness.

Mr. Merkle was born in Yugoslavia, Jan. 1, 1880, coming to Mansfield 42 years ago. He was a member of the St. Paul Lutheran church

Surviving are his wife, Lena; three sons, Adam jr., Carl and John, and a granddaughter, Betty Merkle, all of Mansfield, and one brother, John, in Germany.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Wednesday at 3 p. m. in charge of Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

By LEO PETERSEN

LONDON —(UP)— Olympic Track Coach Dean Cromwell said today that stars Gil Dodds, Charley Fonville, and Harrison Dillard failed to qualify for the team in their specialties because "they tried too much."

The weather-beaten coach from Southern California stoutly defended the system of picking this year's team in the trials at Evanston, Ill., as "the best system we have ever had." And he placed the blame for failing to qualify squarely on Dodds, Fonville and Dillard themselves.

"All we asked was that our athletes use intelligence in their training and hold their best form when it would count most," said Cromwell. "If men don't do that to qualify, how can we be sure that they will be at peak pitch for the Olympics? The answer is, we can't."

★

FONVILLE, the shot putter, suffering with a strained back, failed to make the team although he had eclipsed the world record early in the season.

"I blame him terribly. He entered an invitational meet that he did not have to enter. Then he entered another meet in Canada—also unnecessary. Something happened between those meets — something happened to the muscles in the left side of his back.

"Now, take Dillard. If running in sprints was the most important thing in the world to him — even more important than winning the high hurdles—then he had his wish. He ran in the 100, but he didn't qualify in the hurdles. Did he try too much? Figure it out for yourself. Personally, I think if he had worried only about the hurdles, he would be hurdling for his country at the Olympics."

Dillard, who has set new world's record in hurdling, is with the Olympic team — but as a sprinter. He qualified in the 100-meter dash shortly before he failed in the 110-meter high hurdles.

★

CROMWELL then turned to the case of Dodds, America's fastest miler, who failed to make the team because he had pulled a Achilles tendon.

"He ran in the national AAU meet at Milwaukee, going the 1,500 meters in 3:52, fast time equal to about 4:10 for the mile," said Cromwell. "He was tiring on the last lap and he felt a slight soreness in that tendon.

"Yet Monday he went into an invitational meet in Boston and ran three miles. Right after the meet, he complained of the tendon hurting. But Wednesday, there he was running another three-quarters of a mile.

Leesville Reds Defeat Cairo

ADA—The Leesville Reds came from behind yesterday to defeat Cairo, 9-6, in their first round game of the state baseball tournament here. Leesville will meet the Mansfield Grays at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Leesville trailed 5-3 going into the last half of the sixth inning but tightened up to tie the game and then went ahead in the seventh when Fetter hit a home run with two men on.

Tribe Tops New York 9 By 2 Points

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Manager Lou Boudreau said last week that his Indians "will beat the Red Sox because they play most of their late season games on the road, and we'll beat them ourselves in their own park."

Maybe he was only kidding.

There was no evidence of any Indian superiority yesterday in Boston's Fenway park, where the Tribe lost the third and final game of their series with the Beantowners. The score was 3-0.

Yesterday's defeat left the Indians one and a half games behind the Sox, who took over the top spot, and just two percentage points ahead of the New York Yankees, who hold fourth.

GAINS 13TH WIN

Joe Dobson was the main reason for the Tribe's defeat. The Indian cast-off took revenge on his former teammates by scattering six singles to gain his 13th triumph. He walked four and fanned three.

Steve Gromek started for the Tribe and gave the Sox two runs in the first inning on a triple by Bobby Doerr and a double by Johnny Pesky, but he blanked the Red Sox for the next five frames. Satchel Paige took over in the seventh and served a home run ball to Dom DiMaggio.

The Indians threatened to tie the count in the second inning when Manager Lou Boudreau led off with a single to right and Ken Keltner drew a walk.

Johnny Berardino followed with a line drive to deep left-center field that seemed ticketed for extra bases. However, DiMaggio grabbed the ball in the web of his glove as it was ready to hit the wall.

CAN'T DO IT

In the seventh, Berardino drew a walk with one out and went to second on a single to left by Jim Hegan. Boudreau then sent Eddie Robinson up to bat for Gromek, but he fanned on five pitches. Mitchell ended the inning by grounding out to the pitcher.

After completing their most unsuccessful road trip of the season, the Indians returned home today to enjoy an off day before starting a battle to climb back into the league-lead.

The Tribe meets the Philadelphia Athletics tomorrow night at the stadium. Ed Klieman, who has done most of his pitching in the bullpen for the past two seasons, will start for the Tribe in the opener tomorrow.

New London Hill Ace Wins 14th In Row With No-Hits

NEW LONDON—New London's Thorne Cassel pitched a no-hit game yesterday to hang up his fourteenth consecutive victory over the Elyria American Legion team by a 7-2 score. Three errors by his teammates and the same number of bases on balls gave the visitors their two tallies.

It was Cassel's seventh victory of the season, the other seven games of his winning streak having come at the end of last year. He has pitched four no-hitters.

Eighteen men went down on strikes yesterday and not a single ball was hit out of the infield.

Ninth Inning Burst Gives Hawks Win Over Taverns

A ninth-inning single by Cliff Roberson drove in the tying and winning runs for the Mansfield Hawks at Tillman park yesterday as they defeated T and E. Tavern by a 7-6 score.

Roberson and Gruder each collected four hits in five times at bat to pace the Hawks' 13-hit attack. Ivan Witchey got three for five for T. and E.

The Hawks tied the Red Sox, 5-5, in the second game of the double-header which was halted by darkness at the end of the seventh. The game replaced a scheduled contest between Ohio Sport Center Juniors and the Red Caps.

Gus Lesnevich Meets Freddie Mills Tonight

LONDON —(INS)— Gus Lesnevich, Cliffside Park, N. J., veteran, tonight will make what may be the last defense of his world's light-heavyweight title before 46,000 fans.

From the records, one would say that Gus the gob should have no trouble in defeating England's Freddie Mills in their 15-round title fight.

In fact, Gus not only is a 1 to 3 favorite, but most observers believe he will win by a knockout, because he stopped this same Mills in the tenth round of their bout two years ago.

GUS HAS TROUBLE

However, Lesnevich has experienced a great deal of trouble getting down to the 175-pound limit for this one, and therein lies the only hope of Mills. Some sports experts believe that the rugged Briton will have a chance if it develops that Lesnevich has weakened himself overly with his reducing program.

However, Gus has a terrific incentive to win tonight. He may be matched with Joe Louis in September if the heavyweight champion can be lured out of retirement.

Shelby Blues Bottle Orange

SHELBY — The Shelby Blues defeated the Orange All Stars from Orange township 17 to 0 here yesterday afternoon.

Paul Hartz was the winning pitcher and Des Granges was credited with the loss. He started out by giving up just one scratch hit in the first four innings and then blew sky high and the Blues had a field day at bat with Bob Perman, Paul Hartz, Ralph Higgins and George Zeiters doing the heavy slugging. Game was called in the seventh by mutual agreement.

Other Teams Offer Help

ST. PAUL, Minn. —(INS)—Members of the Class C Northern Baseball league pitched in today with offers of help for the decimated Duluth baseball team.

Four members of the club were killed and seven others critically hurt in a bus-truck collision Saturday on the outskirts of St. Paul.

The critically injured, as well as seven less-seriously hurt were reported "improved."

Duluth President Frank H. Wade, sr., said the seven other league members have offered to help and reinforcements were expected to be provided by the St. Louis Cardinals, the parent club.

Powerful Stymie At End of Trail

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stymie, the horse that won $911,335—more money than any other horse in racing history—came to the end of the racing trail today.

Stymie will thrill the crowds no more with his brilliant, spine-tingling stretch rushes.

The gallant old "Pride of Brooklyn" suffered a fractured sesamoid in his right forefoot in the Monmouth Park Handicap Saturday, and less than 24 hours later Trainer Hirsch Jacobs said the seven-year-old world's money-winning champion would be retired permanently.

When sufficiently recovered from the injury, Stymie will be sent to the blue grass country of Kentucky for breeding purposes.

EXPECTANT MILLIONAIRE

An expectant millionaire for the last four months, the powerful chestnut handicap star ran fourth to Bayard Shaide Rips in the mile and one-quarter Monmouth feature.

The crowd, which had backed him down to 70 cents on the dollar in his usual role of favorite, didn't realize they were watching the rugged old campaigner in action for the last time. As usual, Stymie hung back, then began passing horses. But he failed to come up with his characteristic stretch drive.

Jockey Bobby Permane said "something was definitely wrong" after the race, and Jacobs announced a few minutes later that Stymie had pulled up lame. Yesterday X-rays disclosed the bone injury.

He collected only $1,500 fourth money—peanuts for him—putting his record all-time earnings at $911,335.

Park League Team Breaks Even Sunday

Mansfield Park league teams broke even in a pair of games with Sandusky Cameo club yesterday at North Lake park.

The Cameo 14-year-old team slipped past the young Park league all-stars, 4 to 1, in the opener. Each team collected two hits.

In the finale, the Johns park crew defeated the Cameo all-stars (19 years and under), 7 to 6, as Don Gross and Willie Fowler combined to pitch a four-hitter.

Legion Junior Team Defeats Loudonville

LOUDONVILLE — Mansfield's district champion American Legion Juniors defeated the Loudonville Legion, 9-5, in a hastily scheduled game here yesterday.

Manager Dewey Durant's Mansfield team collected 11 hits off the slants of two Loudonville hurlers while Lou Gregorio was holding the host team to eight safeties.

Gregorio also walked six men but was tough in the pinches as he struck out 14 Loudonville batters.

Loudonville took a two-run lead in the first inning but Mansfield came back to tally seven times in the next three innings. A four-run rally in the fourth inning put the game on ice.

Ken McCally walked, Gene Rublet singled and both came home on Gregorio's single. Elsass was safe on an error and two more boots brought him and Gregorio romping across the plate.

G-R Outfit Battles Elks Here Today

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp will be host to one of its most crucial games of the season tonight when the tough Willard Elks come here for an 8:30 game at Gorman-Rupp field.

Marion Smitty's Grill, only one game behind the locals in the North Central Ohio Inter-City league race, will play last-place Tiffin tonight so Gorman-Rupp must win to maintain its hold on first place.

To win tonight, the Mansfielders must solve the pitching slants of Willard's 19-year-old Jim Smith which have mystified them on two other occasions. Smith handed the team one of its two league defeats two weeks ago and earlier in the season had held them to a 1-1 tie in 16 innings.

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp was defeated, 9-2, by Lakewood Ryder Manufacturing in a game at Lakewood yesterday.

Playing with only a part of their regular lineup the Mansfield team was able to get only two base hits, both of which were converted into runs. Stretch Regula on the mound for Gorman-Rupp, was touched for nine safeties.

Red Sox Ride Herd on League

(By Associated Press)

Joe McCarthy's blazing Boston Red Sox were riding herd on the American league today after achieving a baseball feat almost equal to that of the Boston Braves' wonder team of 1914.

The Red Sox yesterday climaxed a sensational seven-week surge from a dismal seventh to first place—giving Boston teams the leadership in both major leagues.

The Sox wrested the No. 1 berth from the Philadelphia Athletics by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 3-0, for their 12th straight victory. Meanwhile, the Athletics divided a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers

JUST LIKE BRAVES

The ride from 10 games back to the top was reminiscent of George Stallings' miracle Braves of 34 years ago who jumped from the cellar on July 4 to capture the National league flag.

On June 2, the Red Sox were wallowing in seventh place, having won only 15 games while losing 24. The Cleveland Indians were setting the pace. Today the Sox are on top, four percentage points in front of Connie Mack's Athletics. The Indians have skidded to third place, a game and a half behind.

Fred Hutchinson eased the A's out of the lead by pitching the Tigers to a second game 10-2 triumph over Philadelphia and a split in their doubleheader. Joe Coleman had blanked the Tigers, 4-0, with seven hits in the opener.

Joe DiMaggio cracked out two home runs, a double and three singles in seven times at bat to lead the New York Yankees to a double triumph over the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and 7-3. The sweep of the twin bill advanced the fourth place Yankees to within two percentage points of the Indians. Both of Joe's homers, his 22nd and 23rd, came in the second game. Ed Lopat gained his seventh straight victory in the opener, and Vic Raschi won his 12th against four defeats in the nightcap.

Washington and the St Louis Browns divided a doubleheader, the Senators winning the first game 5-1, and the Browns taking the second, 6-4 in 11 innings. Rae Scarborough scattered seven hits and drove in three runs with a bases loaded double to gain his eighth triumph in the opener.

The pace-setting Boston Braves retained their five-game margin in the National league by gaining a split in their twin bill with the Cardinals in St. Louis The Cards had come from behind with two runs in the bottom of the ninth to win the opener 6-5. They also led 6-4 after eight innings of the nightcap, but ninth inning home runs by Bo Elliott and Jeff He

Typical Farm Family Contest Opens In Richland County

Committee Chosen to Aid Project

Prizes, Free Trip Await State Winner

Some farm family in Richland county has a chance to win a brand new Ford tractor and plow, absolutely free and to enjoy a week's vacation at the Ohio State Fair living on the Fairgrounds in a model farm home.

And that isn't all. In addition to this, the family also will be taken on a five-day trip to Niagara Falls and New York City with all expenses paid.

Ohio's most Typical Farm Family will be selected from one of the 88 counties in the state. A local committee has been named to publicize the contest and make available nominating forms and voting petitions to the farm folks of Richland county.

The following are on the local committee: L. L. Rinehart, president of the Richland County Agricultural society; Nyle Clark, of the Clark Tractor Sales; T. H. Sheppard, deputy master of Richland County Grange and County Extension Agent George B. Ganyard.

Here is how the contest operates: Any farm family residing on and operating a farm of 50 acres or more in the state of Ohio is eligible for participation in the Typical Farm Family contest. It doesn't make any difference whether the family owns, rents or manages the farm just so long as they live on it and operate it. There is nothing to buy or sell. It costs nothing to enter the contest.

NOMINATIONS OPEN

In addition to selecting Ohio's most typical farm family there will also be a contest between the families of each county for the title of their county's most typical farm family and from these county winners will come the state winner. There will be awards for each of the county winners, too.

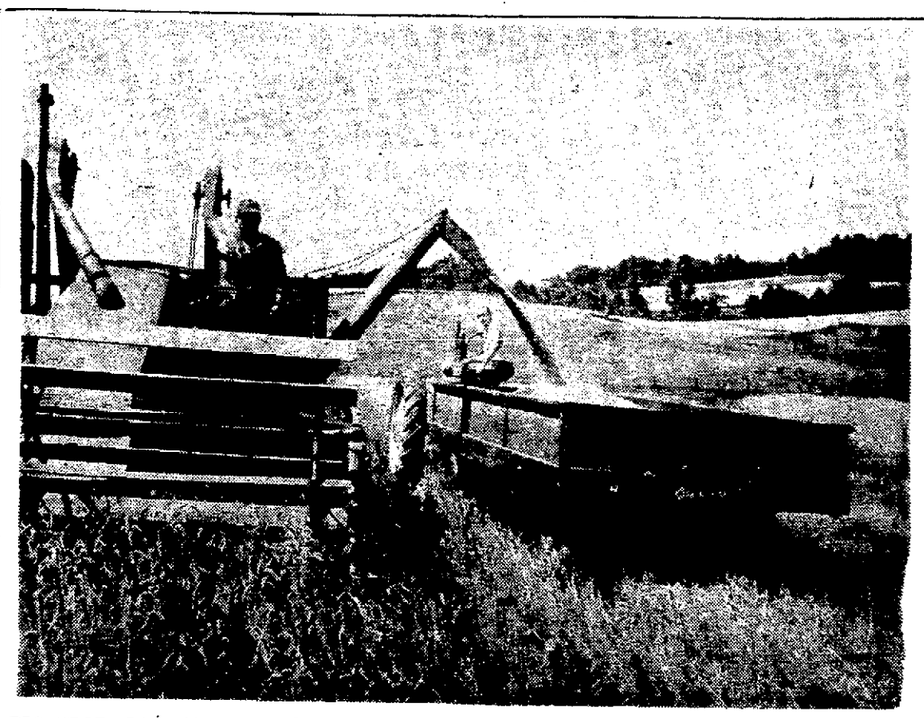
Each county winner will receive a one-day trip to the Ohio State Fair with all expenses paid making the round trip in a brand new Ford automobile. Merchandise prizes for all county winners will be announced later. Anyone may nominate a family for the contest. There are absolutely no restrictions on the size of the family or the age of its members.

Nomination blanks and voting petitions may be obtained from the county extension agent. The deadline for nominations has been set at noon, Saturday, July 31. All voting petitions must be in the hands of the county agent no later than 12 noon Tuesday, August 10.

This is a grand opportunity for organizations in the county to get in back of some typical family and try to put them over the top, the local committee states. There is no limit to the number of voting petitions which may be circulated for any one family. The more petitions that are out the better chance the family has to win.

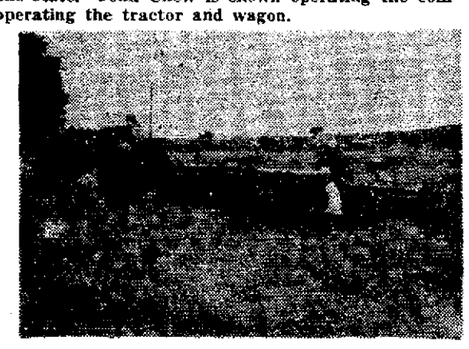
Persons or organizations interested in nominating a family for the Ohio's Most Typical Farm Family contest may contact the office of County Extension Agent Ganyard immediately and obtain nominating blanks and voting petitions.

Strawberries, apricots, apples, raspberries, peaches and cherries, are all members of the rose family.



BIG CROP—It's a big crop in Richland county this year for corn, wheat, and oats—in fact, for almost everything. Combining of oats on the Roy Mull farm, north of Bellville and just west of State Route 13 has brought a good yield as in other parts of the state. John Chew is shown operating the combine while Richard Jensen is operating the tractor and wagon.

READY TO CUT—John Chew prepares to start the big combine which will separate his oats crops from the straw. Combining of wheat and oats was well under way in the county this week.



WOMEN HELP HARVEST — Harvesting a bumper crop is a big job in Richland county the same as anywhere else and in many cases the entire family turns out. Mrs. Freeman Swank operates the tractor in the above photo while Connie Ewers, foreground, Roy Mull and Mrs. John Chew operate the baler.

Foreign Market Loss, Other Factors Hit Florida's Huge Citrus Industry

By ARTHUR L. HIMBERT
(Central Press Correspondent)

MIAMI, Fla— One of the worst years financially in Florida's history, the 1948 citrus season, is now over. Lack of demand has kept prices well below what the industry says it must get to make a reasonable profit.

The men who grow Florida grapefruit lost more than a dime a box on most of the fruit they produced this year. While no exact figures have been compiled on oranges, it is common knowledge that the profit on that fruit has not been great.

Most Florida grapefruit sold on the fresh fruit market brought an "on tree" price of less than 25 cents a box, according to Harry L. Wilson, manager of the Lakeland office of the Federal-State Market News Service.

Grapefruit sold for as much as $1 a box for a brief period at the opening of the season, but the level of fresh fruit for shipping was around 25 cents during much of the season.

In April, when picking was in full swing, Florida growers received only one-eighth of a cent a pound for grapefruit.

★

The difference between that price and the 5 cents a pound or more paid by northern housewives consisted of charges added for picking, packing, transportation, wholesaling and retailing.

On April 15, Florida growers received an average of 10 cents per 80-pound box of "fresh consumption" fruit. They got only six cents a box for grapefruit sold to canners.

Texas growers got 20 cents and Arizona 70 cents a box for fresh consumption grapefruit. This was for grapefruit sold on an "on tree" basis, with the buyers doing the picking. The average cost of production of a box of grapefruit is figured at 37 cents.

Under terms of the farm law, growers should receive $2.06 a box for grapefruit to put them on a price equality with non-farm goods and services.

The so-called "parity" or fair price on oranges is $3.78 a box.

The United States Department of Agriculture, however, is not required to support citrus fruit prices as it is in the case of many other farm products.

Florida's 1947-48 orange crop is estimated at 52,000,000 boxes, including early and mid-season fruit and late valencias.

Grapefruit was estimated at 31,000,000 boxes. Florida also produced 3,900,000 boxes of tangerines and 190,000 boxes of limes.

Florida, however, has never produced a normal crop which, according to its planted acreage, has been placed at 100,000,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit combined.

★

Florida's problem appears to be undermarketing, rather than overproduction.

What has caused this condition and what is Florida doing to correct the situation which threatens to bring disaster to its citrus industry?

Much of the blame has been placed on the loss of foreign markets abroad and in Canada and a sharp drop in government buying.

Week after week throughout the citrus season, the shipping and consumption saturation points for fresh oranges was far below recent years, or around 80 to 85 per cent of what previously had been considered "normal" consumption, with grapefruit declining to a lesser degree.

Grapefruit, which for the last few seasons has held consistently at a constant level for fresh consumption despite the varying size of the crop, failed to even nearly equal recent years' performance in fresh shipments.

Numerous reasons have been advanced for the decline and some of them undoubtedly did have a definite bearing on consumer acceptance.

The reasons include economical canned juices and fruits, with the housewife using the can opener instead of the peeling knife when she wanted to serve oranges or grapefruit; more competition for the consumer's dollar, with staples first choice; ordinary quality; abnormally cold mid-winter weather at receiving points, and too high mark-ups in some retail channels.

While the depressed condition existed in the fresh fruit market Florida canners broke all records for the amount of oranges used in 1947-48.

Processed grapefruit also showed a substantial increase over last year's total, but fell below the record season of 1945-46.

In order to remedy the marketing situation, growers are attempting to organize a "co-operative" or "mutual" so effective control can be exercised over shipments.

"What is needed is research in marketing as well as research in production," C. C. Commander, general manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, declares.

Electronic Rat Trap's Newest In Weird Invention Series

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
(UP Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The nation is rat trap minded and the Interior Department is about ready to start cutting out paper dolls.

Those who make a habit of beating pathways to doors might or might not be interested in an electronic rat trap a yard long, two feet high and a foot wide for $275. The department wouldn't know.

Wiping their brows with any red tape lying around, department officials are contemplating even weirder contraptions submitted to them. It is the public response to the rat control campaign sponsored by the department.

THEY HAVE IDEAS

Nearly everyone, it seems, has ideas about rat traps, and each insists that his is better.

Among the out-of-this-world traps submitted to the department's scrutiny are two models with electronic "eyes," a steel and plastic affair not unlike a cartoonist's nightmare, a metal tunnel with razor blades and a giant version of the conventional cheese-baited trap which goes off with no more noise than a gun shot off by your ear.

In letting reporters step cautiously through their trap-filled offices, government rat experts hastened to say that the department thinks it's grand so many people are inventing traps — but that it is not endorsing any of same.

The $275 model works like this: the rat walks innocently into a tunnel, breaks an electronic beam, is gripped by two steel arms that send an ordinary household 110 volts through him and pfft—dead. The trap, like a record-player, then neatly ejects him to the side.

TICKLES HIS FEET

The other electronic model is slightly larger and the rat enjoys the privacy of an electrocution chamber. On his way there, a mild electric current tickles his feet to make him hurry and get it over with.

Accidents on Farm Take Heavy Toll

Safety Week Opens Today

By PAUL KELLAM
N-J Farm Reporter

By July 26, 1949, some 4,300 farm workers will die as a result of accidents on the farm.

That was the statement today of the National Safety council as National Farm Safety week began throughout the nation. Farm Safety Week will continue until July 31.

President Harry S. Truman, in proclaiming the dates July 24-31 for the fifth observance of the week, called for the elimination of 30,000,000 farm hazards.

"I urgently request each member of every American farm family to accept responsibility for eliminating at least one possible source of accidents during the week," the President said.

Past records show that unless extra precautions are taken:

One out of every 18 farm residents will suffer a disabling injury.

One out of every four farms will be the scene of an accident resulting in a disabling injury to a farm resident.

51 DIE DAILY

Accidental death will occur in one out of every 320 farm families.

A disabling injury will strike some farm farm resident every 19 seconds.

Accidents, on the average, will kill 51 farm residents every day.

Total costs of accidents involving farm people, including fire, motor vehicle and property damage will be $1,050,000,000 or $35 per farm resident.

Four farm buildings will be destroyed by fire every hour of the day . . . every day of the year . . . according to the National Fire Protection association.

FALLS NUMEROUS

Studies by the National Safety council reveal that falls are the leading type of farm work accident and that accidents involving machinery rank second.

Following in close succession are accidents involving animals and hand tools, burns, accidents from firearms, drownings and motor vehicle accidents.

A schedule of special phases of farm safety to be stressed each day of the week is as follows: Sunday, Church Day: Monday, Home Safety Day; Tuesday, Livestock Safety; Wednesday, safety from falls; Thursday, highway safety day; Friday, Machinery safety; Saturday, review day and concentration on preventing farm accidents 52 weeks of the year.

Youth of Britain Afraid, States Lord Montgomery

LONDON —(AP)— Field Marshal Lord Montgomery diagnoses the present feeling of British youth as "spiritual malaise."

"Uncertainty, ignorance and fear are widespread among young people," he told a meeting of young parents, organized by the mothers' union.

"This is a disease of morale," he said. "It is a sickness of our national character and must be treated as such.

"I consider that we older people have two main tasks: First, to devote the remaining years of our lives to such work as will tend to make wars less frequent; secondly, to so train the younger generation that they will be able to handle the things that lie ahead."

Montgomery sees youth as inclined to be intolerant and critical of its elders, observing there had been two major wars in modern times, "both of them probably brought on by unpreparedness and, after each of them, a total failure to realize the benefits which it was promised that victory would bring."

"The young are suffering from a profound feeling not of insecurity but of what, for want of a better word, I call uncertainty. This feeling robs them of the spirit of adventure and perhaps of their self-confidence.

"I think the absence of faith, combined with the menacing pressure of world events which seem too vast to be comprehended, may have disastrous results unless we are very careful.

"If this is a fair picture of the young generation of today, it is a sad reflection on the generation that went before it."

Montgomery believes "the first and most important place where the cure must begin is in the family. . . . The woman's job of laying the foundations of faith, character and morale in the home is the foundation on which our whole national structure rests."

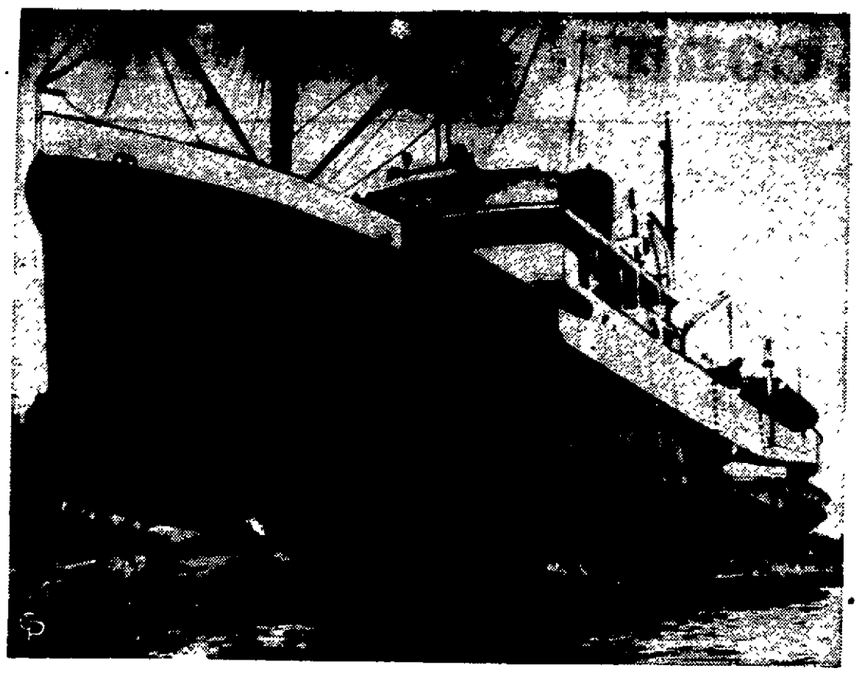
STAMFORD, Conn. —(AP)— Oscar Edward Cesare, 63, artist and political cartoonist, whose sketches of persons in public life were published in many leading newspapers and magazines, died Saturday.



SHIP IS LANDLUBBER—The 1,569-ton passenger ship Cardena rests high and dry where it ran aground on a reef at the entrance of False bay, Lasquetti island, British Columbia. Two hundred passengers and crewmen were removed safely from the grounded vessel by rescuers. (INS Soundphoto)

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Russia Gives U. S. Diplomatic Setback

Even though, as now it seems possible, we manage to stay in Berlin without having to fight a war about it, we still have suffered a serious diplomatic setback. The price of peace with honor is to recede from a position to which we were spectacularly committed —from the German policy which Mr. Bevin and Mr. Marshall adopted, and imposed on M. Bidault, at the London conference which ended early in June.

The London agreements called for a provisional government for western Germany in Frankfurt, operating under a constitution drafted by a German constituent assembly, and approved by the three western military governors.

Though, the London agreements did not preclude an eventual four-power agreement about the whole of Germany, they did assume that the three powers alone could and would be able to present the Russians with an accomplished fact—namely, a western German state, which was self-supporting within the European Recovery Program, and politically aligned with the west against the east.

This German policy would have collapsed even if the Russians had not put the squeeze on us in Berlin. For the Germans themselves refused to carry it out. The French government, which we pushed into approving it, was undermined and the French foreign minister, M. Bidault, who was made to feel he had to defend it, has been overthrown.

Now, with Mr. Bevin leading the retreat, we are going to do the very thing which the London agreements assumed we would not do: We are conceding the main point, which is that four-power negotiations about the whole of Germany may be resumed before we have created a western German state.

The Russians have won a cheap and easy diplomatic victory by seizing and exploiting the opportunity which we so unwisely and so unnecessarily provided for them. They have been enabled to force us out of a theoretical position which we held only on paper, in the London agreements, but had never established and consolidated in western Germany and in Europe.

REVERSE DAMAGING

So in June and July we have suffered a damaging, though not necessarily an irreparable, diplomatic reverse. From the announcement of the Marshall plan in June, 1947, until after the Italian election, the Soviets were fighting a rear guard action in western Europe, and there were many impressive signs that their grip on eastern Europe was weakening, and that they knew it.

But about a month ago they recovered the diplomatic initiative. At least temporarily there was a sudden and sharp reversal, and the western powers were thrown back on the defensive.

The sequence of events shows plainly that it was the London agreements about Germany which placed us in an untenable position, which gave the Russians not only the pretext but the opportunity and the means for a powerful and effective diplomatic counter-offensive.

In the London agreements we had, with a good deal of fanfare, committed ourselves to a German policy which we could not carry out because it had no genuine support anywhere on the European continent, which would not have worked if it had been carried out because it is an economic impossibility, which, if the Germans were willing to carry it out, would have ended inexorably either in a world war or in a German-Russian deal at the expense of the rest of Europe.

We must, of course, regret that we have had to retreat under Soviet pressure, and in the midst of the spectacular crisis in Berlin. But we need have no regrets that we must revise the policy.

It has never reflected the real views and the true judgment of the Americans who are supposed to make our foreign policy Nor is it consistent with the ideals, principles, and plans of our bi-partisan policy for European revival, security, and settlement.

The prime mover of this German policy, though it was negotiated by the American ambassador in London, was General Clay, seconded by his advisers in Berlin, his immediate superiors in the Pentagon, notably Mr. Draper and Mr. Royall, and by British officials in Germany and in the foreign office.

The basic conception of the policy is in direct contradiction with the understanding reached by Mr Marshall, Mr. Dulles and M. Bidault when they were together in Moscow in the early spring of 1947. The understanding was that a German settlement must be fitted into a European settlement, and that restoration of German government must follow, not precede, the construction of a framework of European unity.

Mr. Marshall's foreign policy—not only the recovery program but his sponsorship of Western Union —meant that there would be no German government before western Europe was sufficiently organized and united and rehabilitated to collaborate with a loose confederation of the German states.

CLAY HOLDS POWER

But Mr. Marshall never succeeded in making himself the master of our German policy. General Clay, like General MacArthur, has been a pro-consul, as respects the state department very nearly an independent sovereign with whom the department could now and then could negotiate, to whom it has never been able to issue orders.

This situation developed under Secretary Byrnes, who, partly because of his admiration for General Clay, was never able or willing to bring German policy under the control of the state department.

It was supposed that Mr. Marshall would—that being himself a general of enormous prestige, he would not fail to assert his authority over all the generals. But Mr. Marshall has not done that, and as a result our German policy, which is crucial to the success of our foreign policy, has never as yet been made in the state department.

Perhaps it will now be made there. Perhaps our predicament in Berlin, and the hair-raising measures needed to bail ourselves out of it, will at long last have convinced Mr. Marshall, who passed over the public admonitions of Mr. Dewey and Mr. Dulles on this very point, that he cannot have a European policy and let the military authorities in Berlin make their own German policy.

If so, something good may yet come out of the Berlin affair. For if once we can extricate ourselves from the Berlin predicament, and find our way out of the blind alley of the London agreements, the basic trend of events in Europe, which is in our favor, may help us to repair most of the damage of the past few years.

There is little doubt, it seems to me, that the Communist power is unable to expand into western Europe, and it is highly probable that the Soviet power in eastern Europe is no longer at high tide, and is receding. In Bulgaria, in Yugoslavia, in north Greece, in Finland, in Trieste, in Czechoslovakia, the signs of recession are many.

They are confirmed by the softening of the Russian demands on Austria, and unmistakably, I think, by the immensely significant, though it has been generally ignored, modification of the Soviet position on Germany which was announced at Warsaw on June 24.

The underlying trend is favorable, but only if we know how to favor it by a diplomatic policy which makes us in fact, not the Russians only and by default, the advocates of a general European settlement which restores Europe to the Europeans.

Hogan Grabs Reading Open

READING, Pa. — (UP) — Ben Hogan was back on top among the season's money winners today following his victory in the $15,000 Reading open golf tournament

The Hershey, Pa., golfer, fired a record breaking, eight-under-par 64 in the tournament's final 18 holes yesterday to take $2,600 first place money. The prize upped his 1948 earnings to $22,797 and enabled him to regain the money-winning laurels from Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago.

But nothing less than his blazing stretch drive in the final round could have brought victory to the National open and PGA champion The record 64 gave him at 72-hole aggregate of 269, one less than that posted by Fred Haas jr., of New Orleans, who finished second.

Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., veteran, spun a three-under-par final-round 69 to finish in third place with 271.

Steel Price Hike to Hit Consumers

All Metal Products Expected to Rise

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Substantial price hikes "running into the hundreds of millions of dollars" can be expected on articles made of metals because of the "sharp general increase in steel prices," the magazine Steel said today.

The steel price increase, announced last week by U.S. Steel Corporation, its subsidiaries and most of the independent steelmakers, "has jolted consumers more severely than for many a moon," the industry journal said.

"The fact new price schedules are not uniform among producers also is a factor lending to confusion in the market," Steel said.

"Coming on top of added freight costs resulting from abandonment of basing point pricing, the price hike, averaging over $9 per ton, and in some specific products being as much as $17, may result in pricing some manufactured articles out of the market.

"This is especially true considering the continued rise in wage and other costs which the metalworking industry is experiencing," Steel added.

Price boosts "can be expected" on any article made of metals reflecting the impact of recent and current wage and raw materials costs, Steel said.

The magazine said that while in the case of refrigerators and automobiles, the increased cost of steel is estimated at $1.25 to $1.50 and $10 to $15, respectively, "other costs including third round wage increases have not been passed on to consumers."

IMPACT GENERAL

—"Consequently," Steel said, "increases of $10 to $20 in refrigerators, $50 to $100 in automobiles and similarly higher prices on dozens of other products would not be surprising."

Exact figures as to the increased steel bill to consumers is impossible to determine as yet, the magazine said, "but it will run into the millions of dollars."

The journal, however, added that "whether the higher steel prices will immediately discourage buying to any appreciable extent is debatable." But Steel said that "general market requirements are so far in excess of supply that any buying slump developing in one direction can be taken up in another."

The steel price hike "may influence a strong drift toward price controls," the magazine said, adding that "most observers are convinced the hike gives President Truman more ammunition in his drive to reimpose some form of price control."

The estimated national rate increased 2½ points to 93 per cent of capacity, equivalent to weekly production of about 1,677,000 tons of ingots and castings.

Production rose 7 points to 92 per cent in Pittsburgh, 6 points to 100 in Youngstown, and 4½ points to 99 in Cleveland. Operations declined 1 point to 88 in Chicago, 2 points to 96 in Cincinnati, 3 points to 89 in Wheeling, and 4 points to 78 per cent in St. Louis.

Orphan Gave Others Help

WINNER, S. D.—George C. McDonald knew that a funless childhood is dreary.

He was an orphan, raised in the slums of Chicago. He drifted out to South Dakota during his 'teens and wandered from cow camp to cow camp, and town to town. He slept and ate whenever he could find a cot and a meal.

As he grew up, he became a ranch cook and finally started a hamburger business. He saved the pennies and put them in a big jar. At Christmas time he would ride around town, throwing out pennies to children.

He was the children's best friend and he remembered them even in death. He left two-fifths of his modest estate to the children of Winner for a playground.

Tree In Path Of 'Progress'

SALEM, Ore. —(U.P.)— A large, black walnut tree that was registered in the Washington, D. C, hall of fame for trees, has been felled to make way for a second-hand automobile lot.

The tree was registered in the hall of fame by the late Sen. Charles L. McNary (R-Ore.). The tree was 110 feet high and cast a 100-foot-wide shadow at noon. It has stood on the lot for 79 years, ever since a young German immigrant brought it here from California.

Senator McNary married the daughter of the immigrant, Eugene Breyman.

GEORGETOWN—Group of war vets are restoring what was once the most famous of silver mining towns.

Western Silver Centers Feel New Boom

Tourist Dollars Reviving Mining Towns

GEORGETOWN, Colo.—(AP)—Three once famous Colorado mining towns have discovered a new kind of gold. Aspen, Central City and Georgetown are on their way back after nearly 50 years of steady dilapidation.

Dollars from tourists' pockets are mined today instead of gold and silver ore which built the towns in the 1860s, only to let them down around 1900.

The new stock in trade of these high mountain country villages (1940 population; Aspen, 777; Central City, 706; and Georgetown, 391) consists of breathless scenery, enviable dry climate and romantic background — the glory days of the early west.

None of the three have been ghost towns, but rather, when the revivals started, were sleepy places with one-tenth their former boomday crowds.

Sparkplugging the restorations in all three thowns are separate movements, with varied purposes. They have in common the major premise that Colorado's romantic history is merchantable.

The restoration firms have bought historic buildings and homes and brought back their plushness, have staged celebrations reminiscent of heydays, have encouraged summer colonies and have done promotion work to attract tourist spenders.

Central City, 37 miles from Denver, where gold first poured forth in the Pike's Peak rush of 1859, began a summer theater festival of opera and stage in 1932, under the wing of the University of Denver.

STARS APPEAR AGAIN

Stars such as Walter Huston and Gladys Swarthout tread the same boards of the old stone 1878 Opera House as once did Bernhardt and Booth.

Restored Aspen, on Colorado's western slope, once a boom silver camp of the 1880s, is the recreational brainchild of Chicago industrialist Walter Paepcke.

At present a ski development for the carriage trade, Aspen is eventually to become a year around cultural, sport and vacation colony.

Georgetown, 45 miles west of Denver on United States highway No. 6, once the world's most famous silver camp and site of the Georgetown Loop, is today the modest dream development of some World War 11 veterans who run a hotel, restaurant, bar, movie theater and publishing venture.

Earnings are pooled for promotion and publicity.

Lacking either the backing of a university or the checkbook of a Paepcke, Georgetown Enterprises, Inc., headed by a former University of Chicago economist, Benjamin Draper, shares the enthusiasms of both.

All three movements have captured the traveling public's imagination.

5-Yr. Victim of Gassy Stomach

"For 5 years I suffered from gas welling and bloat," says a well-known citizen: "My meals just laid in my stomach and turned to gas. Had dizzy attacks from this condition. I tried many medicines, but they never had any effect on me, but finally I found INNER-AID. It cleared out all my gas. Now I can eat without misery afterward. This is the only medicine that ever helped me."

INNER-AID is the new formula of 12 juices from Nature's Plants. It has relieved many people who had never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food, thus eliminating the poisons that foster stomach trouble. It will cleanse the bowels, clear gas from stomach, enliven liver and remove old bile from the system. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores.—Adv.

Navy Alters Air Training

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Naval aviation leaders have decided on two steps to make the carrier force better prepared for emergency:

1. Air squadrons will be reduced in size and the planes grouped into more squadrons to provide more experience for squadron commanders, executive officers, etc.

2. Training will be intensified so that every air crew is qualified for all-weather and night operations.

The general effect of this latter step will be to bring the entire naval aviation combat force to what heretofore has been the highest level of proficiency for specialized groups.

Naval officers believe this will increase the efficiency of individual pilot training and increase the responsibilities assigned to pilots with respect to squadron duties.

If expansion became necessary the first step would be to fill out squadrons to their usual size.

For the second phase of improved readiness, the navy is commissioning two new night carrier squadrons to be assigned to the fleet. Two night squadrons now activated will be assigned to training additional units in night and all-weather operations.

Catholic Seminary Starts $121,248 Building Program

Sacred Heart Plans Two Additions

Work To Begin During Week

SHELBY — Plans for expanding the Sacred Heart Seminary on Route 39, between Mansfield and Shelby, were announced today.

Two buildings, including a three-story classroom edifice, will be constructed by the Freibel and Hartman, Inc., firm for an estimated $121,248.

Actual construction will begin sometime this week. The contractors estimated that the buildings, concrete, fireproof units, will be completed some time during the Fall.

MISSIONARY SCHOOL

The seminary is a training school for priests contemplating missionary work in the Far East. During the past 10 years, 31 priests have been ordained for missionary service.

In 1934 Rev. John Dicks purchased the old Hess farm property for the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart. Rev. Joseph A. Janssen took over as Superior and remodeling began. Superior Rev. Clement Geppert took over his duties in 1926.

He has been with the order for 30 years and celebrated the 24th anniversary of his ordination yesterday.

Today the old farm has a new look. More than 280 acres contain a complete plant with a modern structure, including a chapel, classrooms and dormitories, a home-made lake stocked with fish and cultivated farm lands.

The new addition to the Seminary will consist of additional classrooms, dining room, library and a new boiler house.

New Premier Faces Fight

PARIS —(U.P.)— The Socialist party threatened today to wreck the right-of-center coalition government formed only a few hours earlier by Premier Andre Marie.

After more than 24 hours of haggling with political leaders, Andre announced this morning that he had formed his cabinet and offered it to the parties on a take it or leave it basis.

Soon after noon the Popular Republicans accepted Marie's list.

The Socialists approved it by 52 to 50 after more than two hours of hot debate. They decided to send a spokesman to Marie asking whether he would agree to participation in his cabinet on the basis of such a close vote.

Marie had hoped to get the acceptance of his cabinet list by the two big parties by noon and present it to President Vincent Auriol.

"I have chosen my cabinet," he told reporters. "The list is final and irrevocable."

29 Plane Deaths Blamed on Fog

RIMOUSKI, Quebec —(AP)—Authorities blamed fog today for a Saturday night plane crash on the Gaspe peninsula which killed 29 persons. It was the worst aviation disaster in Canadian history.

Most of the passengers aboard the chartered two-motor Dakota transport were lumberjacks heading for a holiday. Two married couples and a baby also perished and Odette Quellet, daughter of Wilfrid Quellet, a vice-president of Rimouski airlines, which owned the plane, was reported among the victims.

Three Named To Bar Committees

Appointment of three Mansfield Attorneys to committees of the Ohio State Bar association was announced today by Philip C. Ebeling, Dayton, president of the state bar association.

Henry P. Huston was named to the committee on Administrative Law and Procedure; William M. Weldon to the Corporation law committee and Thomas J. McDermott to the committee on International Relations.

SHELBY — Funeral services for Pvt. 1/c Paul E. Fagan, killed in action April 22, 1945, in the German campaign, will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Barkdull funeral home.

Besides his wife, Mildred of Crestline, he leaves one daughter, Peggy Arlene; his father, John H. Fagan, and three brothers, Walter, John and Ralph.

Graveside services will be conducted at the Greenlawn cemetery in Crestline by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here. Friends may call at the funeral home after Tuesday noon.

Churches at Peak In Membership

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Church membership was higher today than at any other time, according to the Christian Herald's annual report.

Approximately 53 per cent of the population, or 77,386,188 persons claimed allegiance to some religious group, the report said. Of the total figure, 60 per cent, or 6,149,7 persons, are Protestants; 33 per cent, or 25,286,178 are Roman Catholics, and 4,641,000, or 6 per cent ar Jewish.

200 Expected To Attend Hyfun Dance

Approximately 200 Mansfield high school students are expected to attend a YMCA Hyfun club recreational dance at the "Y" at 8:30 p. m. today.

The teen-agers will dance for two hours to the latest popular recordings.

Conditions at OSR Checked By State

time, so why not the state?" was Glattke's answer.

The "crime school" charge came from Frank Korecky, 26, Cleveland, who laughingly calls himself a "fellow alumnus" of the Mansfield reformatory, said, "Daniels deserves to die for what he did, but something good can yet come out of his crime career if it awakes the people to brutal conditions at Mansfield.

Korecky said he knew Daniels "pretty well" and that he was "sort of sissified and took everything the guards did to him without open complaint."

"Like Daniels, I had a lot of hatred for the place and the guards, too, when I left," he added. "But I guess I didn't have the killing quirk in my nature like Daniels did."

Daniels, in a signed confession, admitted that he shot and killed John Niebel, superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory farm, Niebel's wife, and their daughter, early last Wednesday for "revenge."

"Those aren't hardened criminals in the reform school—they're just kids who made a mistake," Korecky said. "But too many come out ready for a life of crime. I'd like to see a thorough revamping of methods there."

DENIES CHARGE

Meanwhile, Supt. Glattke denied Daniels' charge that Harris was brutal to him and other inmates.

"People hang onto every wild statement Daniels makes and forget that he is a psychopath," Glattke added. "You just can't believe fellows like Daniels. After all, records show 85 per cent of our inmates go straight. That minority causes all the fuss."

Daniels, in his signed statement, said he and West had gone to Mansfield to "get Harris" but when they were unable to find him, went to the Niebel home.

Glattke, who said he was "competing with the factories" in getting guards to work at the institution said:

"We're 30 people short right now, about 20 of them for guard positions."

$150 BASE PAY

Salary scale for guards at the institution is based on a $150 a month pay for beginning, or "C" guards; "$160 for "B," or more experienced guards; and $170 a month for "A," or long-time guards. However, legislative increases to the guards' salaries give a beginning guard of "C" status a $187.50 a month top salary and a class "A" guard a $210 a month salary.

The mixed population at the reformatory, where normal prisoners are thrown in with psychopaths and below-average inmates, has been criticized by Glattke for the past two years.

Two years ago the superintendent asked the welfare department to establish a "separation center," where normal prisoners could be separated from the abnormal ones and sent to a proper place for their reform cycle.

The system Glattke advised and championed was similar to the three-point program, urged today by former state welfare director, Frazier Reams, who said the state institutions were overcrowded and understaffed and their facilities overworked due to lack of expansion modernization in recent times.

OFFERS PROGRAM

The Reams plan includes:

1. Construction of new penal and correctional facilities to relieve crowded conditions at the Ohio state penitentiary, the Mansfield reformatory and the Lancaster boys' industrial school.

2. Staffing of institutions with psychiatrists and other trained workers to determine the mental state of a prisoner before he is released into society.

3. A parole system with enough trained workers to make a check on former convicts.

Meanwhile Mansfield reformatory officials continued a search today for two inmates who escaped from the institution farm late Saturday.

Supt. Glattke identified the escapers as:

James Campbell, 26, received on May 24, 1947, from Lucas county and sentenced to one to 20 years for burglary and auto theft.

Russell Kansorka, 24, received Feb. 12, 1948 from Lucas county and sentenced to one to 20 years for auto theft.

Glattke said the missing inmates were reported at 3:10 p. m. Saturday.

Attaches at Van Wert County hospital said today that Sgt. Leonard Conn was in "fair" condition and had improved somewhat. Conn, Van Wert city policeman, was critically wounded Friday morning when Daniels was captured at the road block and West was fatally wounded.

Despite Conn's improved condition, Van Wert county authorities today had not decided what county would try Daniels. He is still being held in the Mercer county jail at Celina.

Lodges to Hold Picnic

WILLARD — The Masonic and Eastern Star lodges will hold a picnic on Wednesday, Aug. 4, at the Willard park. George Hinesman and Creatis Shira are co-chairmen. Others on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McNeal, R. G. Kuhn, Mrs. Ed Haynes, Mrs. Paul Fackler, J. D. Rogers, R. C. Brown, D. W. Gates and Walter Cummings.

Shelby's Water Supply Cut During Day as Main Breaks

SHELBY — Now Shelby has water troubles.

Like an epidemic, water trouble is spreading over the Mansfield area. Ashland was the first city hit and suffered the most when the town was without water for several hours.

Galion and other communities experienced water difficulties due to the lack of a softener and filtering devices.

A break in the water main created the trouble in Shelby yesterday and left the city without water for more than 15 hours.

The pressure dropped to a slight trickle in the afternoon, but by evening no water was available in any homes.

City Gets Showers

Umbrellas and raincoats reappeared in Mansfield today as scattered showers helped to keep temperatures down to the comfortable level throughout north-central Ohio. Rainfall for a 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. today was only .02 inches.

However, today's situation, good for farmers but bad for picnickers and vacationists, won't last long. Weather Bureau Forecaster C. G. Andrus said a dry mass of air is moving toward Ohio from the west and would reach the state tomorrow.

Today's showers and thunderstorms, Andrus said, will help prevent moisture from evaporating too quickly, thus helping many farming areas where rainfall deficiency this month has been acute.

In Cleveland, a ban on lawn sprinkling remained in effect as the city hoped today's showers would help refill depleted reservoirs.

6 Violators Cited In City

Six traffic law violators paid fines or forfeited bonds totaling $155 in municipal court today.

For operating an automobile under the influence of alcohol, Orlando Shoffstall, Mansfield, R. D. 2, was fined $75 and costs and his license was suspended for six months.

Forfeiting $25 bonds for speeding were Donald Niles, Falconer, N. Y., and Arley Walters, Utica, O. Arthur W. Chinn, Huntington, W. Va., forefeited $15 on an improper lights charge.

Frank Kethley, 157 North Walnut street, paid $5 and costs for having insufficient brakes and Paul Washburn, Ashland, paid $10 and costs for improper passing.

Wins Prize In Bicycle Contest

Robert Bensinger won first place for the best decorated bicycle in a contest at South park recently when 100 Mansfielders attended the annual family basket picnic. The picnic celebration honored the new "Y" Century Cycle club.

The crowd witnessed a demonstration of bike riding safety rule demonstration and exhibition of bicycle stunts.

Paul Dent, Ronald Sherrer, William Wadsworth and Charles Gilbert tied for second place in the contest.

Bensinger was awarded a year's membership in the club and second prize winners were given six-month memberships.

Trading Aimless as Wall Street Awaits Truman's Talk

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market puttered along more or less aimlessly today while Wall street awaited the President's message to Congress tomorrow.

Price changes either way were narrow with gains showing a slight edge over losses. Trading slowed to a walk almost immediately after the opening bell.

Morrow County Seat In Midst of Growth

MT. GILEAD—The growth of Mt. Gilead, county seat of Morrow, from a village to a small city status, is in the making.

With the recent annexation of four acres in Gilead township, the village council has announced plans to enable Mt. Gilead to grow in stature on its hundredth birthday observance.

Council approved the annexation along with plans for two subdivisions and further annexations.

The annexed land lies north and west of the intersection of Delaware and Highland avenues in the northwest section of Mt. Gilead. Leo Wilcox was the petitioner for the landowners.

PLOT ACCEPTED

A plot of the Alvin A. Baker subdivision, as presented by Kenneth Graham, was also accepted at the meeting. Building lots have been laid out in the subdivision on Pottery Lane and on the Marion road.

A subdivision of Kenneth Breese on Cedar street was accepted as laid out by Engineer Graham.

Annexation of two other tracts is expected in the near future.

Elison Kaufman announced this week that he would file a petition for annexation of 57 acres in Gilead township to the village of Mt. Gilead with the Morrow county commissioners at an early date. Kaufman is agent for Herman Hart, J. Ewart Bruce and Ed Snyder. The land is located northeast of the village.

Warren McClelland, agent for petitioners, said this week that he expects to file a petition for the annexation to the village of Mt. Gilead of certain lots located on the east side of Bank street with the Morrow county commissioners.

Sixth Crash Victim Dies

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Steve Lazar of Oliphant, Pa., died today, the sixth victim of a bus-truck collision which shattered the ranks of the Duluth Northern league baseball team.

The 25-year-old second baseman died in Ancker hospital to which he had been brought unconscious Saturday after his team's bus collided with a truck hauling a cargo of dry ice.

Four of Lazar's teammates were killed outright as the machines met on a slight rise in highway 36 at the northern edge of St. Paul. The fifth victim was James E. Grealish of St. Paul, driver of the truck.

Fourteen other members of the team, playing in the Northern league as the Duluth Dukes, were injured but all of those remaining in the hospitals were reported showing improvement today. Several were in serious condition, however.

Galion Plans Safety Drive

GALION — The Galion Kiwanis club will sponsor a safety campaign as part of the National Farm Safety week observance.

Herman Eichhorn, of the Kiwanis agriculture committee, said that President Truman had proclaimed the week commencing July 25 as National Farm Safety week. During this time an effort will be made in Galion to call attention to the great rate of farm accidents and encourage farmers to "play safe" in their work.

Statistics reveal that during the year 1946 a total of 18,500 farmers and other farm residents were killed accidentally. This number was an increase of nine per cent over 1945. This was equivalent of 70 per 100,000 farm residents. The total farm fire loss for the year was $90,000,000.

Greenwich Couple Wed

GREENWICH—Wedding vows were exchanged by Robert Stricklin and Miss Joanne Johnson of McArthur at 11 a. m. Thursday at the Deciple parsonage in Greenwich.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will reside with the groom's mother, Mrs. Bertha Stricklin, East Main street, Greenwich.

Work on Water Plant to Begin

BUCYRUS — Work on staking out the grounds for Bucyrus' new $463,000 water filtration and softening plant has been completed and ground will be broken this week for the plant which will replace the old unit purchased in 1926.

Due to the deterioration of the still unpaid old plant and water system, built at a cost of $600,000, the city during the last four years has found it necessary to borrow a total of $871,000 for replacements and repairs.

Already constructed are two underground clear wells of a total capacity of 1,000,000 gallons; a 500,000 gallon overhead storage tank and 18 miles of cast iron mains to replace old wooden mains.

Also scheduled to be completed this fall are two more miles of water main replacements which will leave approximately 12 miles yet to be replaced.

New London Firm Leads In Regalia

City Is Nation's Academic Capital

NEW LONDON — Commencement exercises put Ohio-Manufactured caps and gowns on college and high school graduates all over the United States.

April, May and June are the months of greatest graduation activity. The rest of the year the academic capital of the United States is New London, Ohio, in Huron County, part of the Connecticut Western Reserve.

The Ohio Development and Publicity Commission discovered New London's leadership in this unusual business as part of its investigation of manufacturing expansion in Ohio. The C. E. Ward Co. of New London is one of the nation's largest suppliers of academic costumes, church vestments, band uniforms, and lodge regalia.

Nine months in the year thousands of robes are at home in New London. They range from doctor's gowns with brilliant velvet hoods and gold-tassled mortar boards to simple costumes that dispel rivalry in graduation suits and dresses for 8th graders. They are repaired, refurbished and stored, ready for the next strenuous season of express travel and commencement festivities.

This small town industry with its nation-wide business started in the 1890's making lodge-badges. Badges led to complete regalia, including plumed chapeaux ceremonial swords, and initiation properties. After the first world war, college and high school bands began to sport fancy capes and strutting uniforms, many of them made by the Ward Company. About 20 years ago the company added academic robes and church vestments.

Bake Sale Nets Center $114

SHELBY — A community bake sale at the Ira Bowman store on Springmill road, sponsored by the Richland county Granges, netted the Richland Rural Life center approximately $114.00.

The proceeds of the bake sale were turned over to the center, an 88-acre camp used by county church groups and organizations.

Iowa Society to Meet

WESTBROOK MEMBERS HOLD DINNER DANCE

Plan Stag Buffet Dinner for Wednesday Night; Announce Entertainment Plans for August.

ABOUT 50 couples attended the Westbrook Country club dinner dance Saturday evening at the club, among them Mr. and Mrs. Sven Meiton of Sweden who are stopping at the Mansfield-Leland hotel while in Mansfield for a business visit to the Ohio Brass company.

Cocktails were served from 7 until 9 o'clock and were followed by a steak dinner. After dinner the members and their guests danced to the music of Tommy Van's orchestra until 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shoemaker were hosts and hostess for the affair and the Meitons were their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Meiton are both Swedish engineers and during their visit here they are being entertained by Mr. Shoemaker who is with the foreign trade department for the Ohio Brass company.

The club has scheduled a stag buffet dinner for Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Henry Picard, golf professional from Cleveland, will speak to the men after dinner. Golf play by the members of the club will precede the dinner. Dr. Robert P. Scott will act as host for the evening.

Entertainment at the club during the month of August will begin the first evening at 6 o'clock when a buffet dinner is served. Similar affairs are given each Sunday night and they are followed by a social time during which games are conducted. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Brandt will be hosts at the Aug. 1 party.

Wednesday, Aug. 4, the ladies will have a luncheon bridge at 1 p. m. and the hostesses will be Mrs. L. L. Wenger and Mrs. Lucille Selby.

High school and college-age sons and daughters of members will be guests at a Young Set Buffet Dance Friday, Aug. 6. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and dancing will begin at 8:30. Eddie Juenemann's orchestra from Canton will provide music for the dancers. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Herbert and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Fernyak will be the hosts for the evening.

Cocktails will be served from 6 until 8 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 7 when the members have a Grille Party. A buffet supper is to be served from 7 until 9:30 o'clock and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hugo are the hosts.

Saturday, Aug. 14, Denny Thompson and his orchestra from Akron will provide the music for the dinner dance which will begin at 6 o'clock with cocktails. Dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock and dancing will be from 9:30 until 1:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stevens are to act as hosts for the affair.

The ladies will hold another 1 o'clock luncheon bridge Wednesday, Aug. 18 when Mrs. P. W. Endriss and Mrs. J. H. Hoffman are the hostesses. An evening bridge party will be given Saturday, Aug. 28, beginning at 9 o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Riester are the hosts for that occasion.

The swimming finals will be conducted at 2 p. m Sunday, Aug. 29, and will be followed by the weekly dinner at 6 o'clock and the social evening with games at the club. Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Damron are the evening hosts for that date.

Garden Study Club Meets In Johnson Home

Three guests, Mrs. Emmett Miller, Mrs. Kenneth Cook, and Mrs. James Cook, were present when the Garden Study club met Friday at the home of Mrs. Blaine Johnson, 121 Dawson avenue. A 1 o'clock luncheon was served at small tables centered with mixed garden flowers.

Mrs. R. R. Martin, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. L. D. Bower gave reports from the Garden Club of Ohio magazine, "Garden Greetings."

"Something-out-of-the-ordinary" was given by Mrs. E. L. Zerhbach, Her subject was "A New Bee Is Born." This is a bee that is supposed not to sting and will produce twice as much honey as other bees. Mrs. Zehrbach also spoke about the earthworm. The title of her subject was "A Worm's Turning." She gave both sides of the controversy of whether the earthworm is beneficial to the soil or not.

A quiz was conducted with all members participating. They were given slips of paper with names of different flowers on them and then the holder was to pronounce the name correctly.

A contest for arranging flowers was held between Mrs. R. K. Clark and Mrs. A. J. Barker. They were each given the same number of flowers and the same kind of container which they were to arrange in their best manner.

The next meeting will be a breakfast at 9 a. m Aug. 13 at the home of Mrs. Clarence Lisle, 238 Blymyer avenue.

Back To School Clothes Shown

At long last the kids are having a voice as to what they prefer in the way of back-to-school clothes.

"We asked the kids about them all, found they liked color, nubby fabrics, and clean natty lines," an authority states. "Their mamas spoke up for hard-wearing togs, and the young world agreed—nobody wants to look shabby at the end of the semester. Fudge brown melted everybody. It was meant for a coat with a velveteen cape, with leggings and matching hat."

Among the back to school clothes favored by the youngsters were wool skirt and wool-jersey blouse; wool-flannel jacket and plaid trimmed collar; jumper blouses with long sleeves prettied up with needlework edging in easily washed cotton; navy blue broadcloth with a gleaming tux front; checked dresses which will take several days wear between washings without surrendering a particle of shape; cross-stitched recitation dress; square yoked chambray and net white collar; shining pique with attached plaid skirt; jumper dress tied with a poet's bow; wool plaid dress with a white pique collar; plaid cotton gracefully pleated skirt; wool plaid; cotton sailor dress; gay paid wool skirt.

"The first thing most teens say about the new fashions is that they make sense," the magazine states. "Let everyone who thinks teens like dresses embroidered with Hi Stranger or Murray Hill High discard her illusions Teens know corn when they see it. The new clothes are making a hit precisely because they're not corny. Things teens do like are full skirts. And color. And informality."

Bride-Elect Honored At Final Shower

The last in a series of pre-nuptial parties given for Miss Maxine Zimmerman was a linen shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Ira Zimmerman, 188 South Foster street, with Miss Marjorie Homerick as hostess.

At the beginning of the evening the hostess presented Miss Zimmerman with a pink rosebud corsage.

During the evening the 10 guests hemmed tea towels. Contests were conducted and prizes awarded to Mrs. Richard Schwartzenwalter and Mrs. Glen Lanning who in turn gave them to the honoree.

At a late hour luncheon was served from a long table with tall lighted tapers at either end. On a mirror in the center of the table stood a small doll dressed in a white satin and net bridal costume. The miniature bride was surrounded by a garland of fern and sweetpeas. All other appointments were ice blue crystal and the guests' favors were individual corsages.

Miss Zimmerman found her shower gifts attached to silver streamers which hung from a large blue parasol The parasol was edged with a wide white ruffle on which were attached tiny floral clusters

Miss Zimmerman and Mr Adams will be wed in an open church ceremony Friday evening, July 30 at 7:30 o'clock at the First Christian church.

Install New Pocahontas

The regular meeting of Richland Queen Council No. 55, Degree of Pocahontas, was held Thursday night at Eagle hall with Mrs. Charles Wolfe, Pocahontas, presiding.

Mrs. Wolfe was installed in her office during the business session. Others installed include Miss Dorothy Sams, first runner; Miss Betty Altaffer, third warrior; Mrs. Floyd Grandstaff, guard of the forest, and Mrs. George Reichert, first scout.

The degree team will meet with Mrs. R. J. Croskey, East Second street, Aug. 2 and the Past Pocahontas association will have a picnic supper at 6:30 o'clock Aug. 4. Mrs. Emmett Crookton, Flint street, will be hostess for the latter meeting.

The next regular lodge meeting will be Aug. 12 at 7:30 p. m. at Eagle hall.

Look Cool On Hot Days

Girls can look lots cooler in warm weather by observing a few simple rules.

"Wear your hair simply, off face and neck," is the advice. "Wash it oftener. Brush and comb it oftener too, to avoid the limp straggling look that is so hot and messy.

"Get up earlier, move more slowly, take your time. Give the impression of order and cleanliness by scrupulous good grooming. Take twice as many baths; use lavendar, pine, or fresh-scented bath salts.

"Keep your hands meticulously clean, manicured. Wear washable white gloves. If your skin is good, wear little make-up. If it needs disguise, use cake make-up that won't get shiny, stays put.

"Pat dusting powder on you and in your girdle. Splash on cologne for fragrance and quick coolness.

"Dust powder on feet and in shoes. If feet swell in the heat, rub them with foot cream, change shoes often."

A symbol ring, with a three-petal flower of palladium imposed on a yellow gold band, is the latest design for wedding rings. Manufacturer explains the flower stands for "Love, Honor and Obey."

Club Welcomes Mrs. Brown

Mrs. Robert T. Brown was welcomed as a new member to the Pleasant Valley Garden club Friday when members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Robert Paxton 563 Yale drive. Fifteen were in attendance and served a luncheon at the noon hour. Floating petunias centered the attractively appointed table and throughout the home were bouquets of snapdragons and nasturtiums.

Mrs. Henry Huber conducted the brief business session after which Mrs. Clarence Stuhldreher, guest speaker, talked to the group on "Preparing and Arranging Flowers." She stressed the proper care of flowers before arranging them.

Plans were made for a club flower show to be held Aug. 6 at the home of Mrs. Richard Sturges, 374 Davis road. Each member is to submit one flower arrangement which will be judged.

CIRCLE TWO

Circle Two of the Ontario Community church will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. R. Snyder, Millsboro road.

Rein-Chronister Nuptials Read At St. Luke's Lutheran Church

THE Rev. Herbert S. Garnes officiated for the single ring wedding ceremony of Mrs. MaDonna Mae Rein and Willis Edward Chronister. They were married Sunday at St. Luke's Lutheran church at 4 p. m. before an altar decorted with yellow glads in altar vases.

The bride resides with her brother, T H. Scott, 552 South Diamond street, and Mr Chronister is the son of Oscar Chronister, 168 Raleigh avenue.

The bride wore an aqua sharkskin suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage, for the ceremony.

A reception was held at Prospect park pavilion immediately following the ceremony for twenty-five relatives.

For her honeymoon to Michigan, Mrs. Chronister wore a black print sheer dress with a white topper and white accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 265 West Fourth street.

The bride is employed at the M. O'Neil Company. Mr Chronister is an employe of the Erie railroad.

Out-of-town guests were present from Nelsonville, Akron, Shelby and Plymouth, Ohio.

Reports Given On Convention

Members of the Frances Willard chapter, WCTU, met last week for a family picnic at North Lake park. The supper was served to 10 members and their families. Mrs. Allen Stoner conducted the business session and Mrs. L. L. Frederick was in charge of the program.

Reports were given on the recent convention held at Lakeside by Mrs. J. W. Waddell and Mrs. J. H. Stottler. Miss Arleen Cline reported for the young people's convention, also held at Lakeside.

CIRCLE SEVEN

Circle Seven of the Women's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist church will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. R. Conneway, Park avenue west road. It is a regular meeting and W. M. Bonnell will show movies he took in South America while in the mission field. Mrs. J. Campbell White, a missionary returned from India, will speak to the group about that country.

Many people do not know the principal difference between salad dressing and mayonnaise. Salad dressing contains starch, mayonnaise does not.

Church Young People Plan Lawn Festival

The Youth Fellowship of the Central Methodist church will sponsor a lawn festival Tuesday on the church lawn, it was announced today by Betty Calmes, president of the young people's group.

Serving will start at 5:30 p. m. and home-made cakes, ice cream, coffee and tea will be provided. An attractive Maypole arrangement is being planned for the tables, which will each be centered with small electric lights and appointed in pastel colors.

Ruth Schaaf is chairman of the decoration committee and she and members of the Youth Fellowship are assisting Miss Calmes in making plans, advised by Mr. and Mrs. Herman D. Bishop, youth advisers of the church.

In case of bad weather, the social will be held in the church basement.

Fashion Review Forecasts Expensive Clothes

Clothes will be more expensive than ever next fall, skirt lengths will remain just below mid-calf for street wear, the silhouette will be slim and wearable and U. S. women will have no complaints about unbecoming styles.

That's the fall picture, as gleaned from the current week of fall previews, attended by fashion editors of leading newspapers throughout the country.

Coming from their home towns armed with protests against further exaggerations of the "new look," the visiting editors have found to their pleasure that this fall's clothes are strictly American, with slim, straight skirts, easy, casual cut and a trimness missing from last year's bunchy silhouettes.

'Skirt fullness has either disappeared entirely or been drawn to the back, where it creates a pleasant Victorian swish. Suit jackets for the most part are becomingly long, managing to cover the hip bulge bemoaned by the average woman.

Hattie Carnegie shows her usual collection of suave town and country clothes, highlighted by careful detail and tender colors. Her clothes are made for the woman who can afford to indulge her whims of dress, but this fall they avoid undue exaggeration for the most part.

She shows a number of costumes consisting of a short fur jacket worn over a slim wool dress.

Alone among American designers, Miss Carnegie clings to the padded hipline in her suits, but it is modified enough not to look freakish. Shoulders are slightly padded, to avoid last year's "droop" silhouette, and skirts are for the most part slim.

Weakness In Ohio Parole Methods

NOW THAT the wave of horror which spread over this northcentral Ohio area last week has been somewhat abated by the capture of one killer and death of his associate in crime, it seems timely to discuss weaknesses of the state parole system which loosed these two monsters from prison and permitted them to indulge in such an orgy of crime as that which cost the lives of six law-abiding persons, including three respected residents of this community.

The record of Daniels, the 24-year-old murderer who is still alive, is not such as to justify belief that he could be trusted with freedom, without supervision, as he had not only been a teen-age delinquent, committed to the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster for automobile theft, but had later been involved in a robbery near Waverly, which included an attack on a grocer.

Companions in that offense warned that Daniels was "kill crazy." Then he was brought to the Ohio State Reformatory under sentence of from one to 25 years; transferred to the Grafton honor camp, from which he escaped, was recaptured and returned to the institution here—from which he was paroled last September, although his record showed him to have a "psychopathic personality", with no realization of the consequences of his actions—a conclusion borne out by his murderous acts in recent weeks.

Of West, his companion in the series of killings, it was recorded that he was mentally deficient, "with the intelligence of a moron", and his earlier crimes revealed a viciousness which might have well served to warn against allowing him unrestricted freedom of movement. Yet he was paroled in March—and see what happened!

This is not designed as adverse criticism of the parole principle of giving youthful lawbreakers "another chance", it is merely intended to direct public notice to the obvious weakness of a system which apparently serves the purpose of clearing space in penal institutions for other offenders, disregarding the danger created by permitting such fiends as Daniels, West, and others of their kind, to roam at large, without the watchfulness that might have prevented such horrible crimes as this pair committed.

If it is true, as claimed, that lack of funds prevents proper manning of the Ohio bureau of probation supervisors, this is indeed poor economy.

What Can Congress Do About Prices?

AND NOW it comes about that Congress is back in session, at the call of President Truman, who expresses dissatisfaction over some of the things left unfinished when Congress adjourned June 19, just in advance of the Republican national convention.

A strictly partisan flavor was given the President's recall of Congress by the fact that he made first announcement of his intentions as a part of his acceptance speech after having been nominated at the Philadelphia convention.

While several controversial subjects will be presented to Congress by President Truman, with demand for action, it seems likely that chief emphasis will be placed on inflationary prices to which commodities have climbed.

This is undoubtedly the domestic problem that has aroused keenest public interest, coupled with deep concern on the part of millions of people who have been hard hit by jumps in living costs.

But how will President Truman seek to control prices and living costs by legislative action?

Will he again advise placing a ceiling on a few selected items, such as meat, poultry, dairy products, coal, steel, and the like, or will he ask price controls on a broader scale?

And if there is to again be control over prices to consumers, how is this to be accomplished without going back to the elements which contribute to production costs, including the feed for livestock and the wages of those who process meat in readiness for the retail trade?

Steady climb in retail prices has been an inescapable followup of successive wage increases—as note the jump after jump in automobile prices and other products of industry—yet there is such strongly organized resistance to wage control that this is unlikely to be attempted.

So what's to come of it? The problem seems too big for any of those who are trying to solve it.

Neglected Museum Merits Attention

WHILE many other cities consider the creditable upkeep of their museums a matter of civic pride, this community's museum, housed in the Madison Township Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial building, on Park avenue, just west of the Farmers Bank building, has been permitted to deteriorate to such extent that it no longer serves its intended purpose of acquainting newcomers and the young people of this city and vicinity with the rich historic past of their home surroundings.

It was around twenty years ago that considerable local interest was evidenced in a clean-up of the museum, with the result that it was restored to presentable condition and opened to visitors at designated hours on specified days each week—but this proved to be a temporary effort, without development of sufficient organized support to carry it through as a permanent project.

Co-operative action by several patriotic organizations or civic groups might be effective in again restoring the museum to the community service for which it was designed, and to add to it many exhibits which will attain historic value for future generations. This is presented for thought and discussion, as Sunday's News-Journal article on this subject served to bring it to mind.

It is predicted that nothing much can be expected of the returning congressmen, it having been noted that statesmen are never very august in August.

Now is the time for every good man to act like one.

What Some Other People Are Saying

SEN. KENNETH WHERRY of Nebraska after talking to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany:

"I believe there is no justification to even intimate that there is a war crisis right now."

* * *

REP. FRED HARTLEY (R) N. J.: "I have received information that communist labor leaders in this country have set up plans to sabotage industry in case war comes. I don't want to work up a war scare but those are the facts."

* * *

GOV. THOMAS E. DEWEY, in connection with his talk with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Berlin situation: "We agreed that our country must stand with absolute firmness in Berlin and at the same time neglect no avenues toward the finding of a peaceable solution."

All Set For the Big Act.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

'Face-Saving' Is Important To Russians

A FORMER German foreign office executive, who had much experience in negotiating with the Russians, tells me that the easiest way to persuade them to give ground in a dispute (like the current fight over Berlin) is to provide them with a face-saving excuse for a change in their attitude.

That thought was given me over the luncheon table by Dr. Erich Kordt, professor in the University of Munich and one time chief of the German foreign office secretariet, who is visiting in America.

Incidentally he was one of those in the plan to overthrow Hitler in 1938—a project that wasn't put into execution—of which more anon.

Dr. Kordt pointed out that the Russians are a proud and sensitive people, and said the German foreign office early had learned the importance which they attached to saving of face in disputes. After that Berlin persistently worked the scheme of providing the Reds with an easy excuse for retreats from their position. The doctor thought perhaps the Berlin deadlock might be broken if the Muscovites could make a concession without losing face.

I asked Kordt if he meant that the democracies should withdraw from their firm stand and he replied emphatically in the negative. Firmness is essential—but just provide the idea for a logical way out. He stressed the need of firmness by pointing out that lack of it on the part of the Allies was what encouraged Hitler to embark on war.

* * *

How Plans Were Upset.

DR. KORDT then told me of the part he played in the great drama at the time of Munich. The conference between Hitler and British Prime Minister Chamberlain at Godesberg, just prior to Munich, made it clear that the fuehrer had evil ambitions for conquest. I was at that conference and know that the German all but spat in the courtly Chamberlain's face.

This strengthened the determination of Dr. Kordt and others opposed to Hitler to overthrow him. Dr. Kordt told me he personally got word through to the British foreign office, urging that the Allies be firm with Hitler and giving the tip about the developing revolt.

Kordt said he telephoned this message to his brother, who was attached to the German embassy in London, and the brother handed it on to the government.

Hitler wasn't looking for a major war at that time. He wanted a little war which would enhance his prestige, and so planned an assault on Czechoslovakia. His opponents knew this and set Sept. 28 as the date for their revolt.

The day before that Hitler decided it would be impressive to march a large body of troops through Berlin and past the British embassy. This he did with surprising results.

The soldiers finally drew up in front of the chancellery where nightly Hitler was accustomed to appear on the balcony and greet the great crowd which gathered to cheer him.

This time, however, there were no cheers. The people had no stomach for war, and stared glumly at the soldiers.

After a bit Hitler withdrew, but he stood and watched the hostile crowd from behind curtains. Finally he turned and remarked: "the people are not yet with me in this project."

The next morning the nazi chief suddenly proposed the Munich conference. Since this, on the face of it, was a gesture of compromise, it killed the chances of a successful revolt and the project was called off.

So the Munich conference was held and Hitler's success in getting all he wanted so raised his stock with the army and general public that there no longer was any hope of staging a German rebellion.

Viewing the National Scene

Behaving True To Form

By THOMAS L. STOKES

EVERY so often some of our people, some of our most high-minded and intelligent folks, seem to lose faith in our political ways and institutions and our hurly-burly democratic way of life.

And thereby their sense of humor.

Just now, for example, some people are uttering solemn incantations about how terrible it is that President Truman called Congress back into special session when all those fellows will do up there at the capitol is to play politics, make political speeches, and, alas, possibly say something that might disturb our international relations.

It is hardly complimentary to our national legislative body. It is also contradictory to the sturdiness of our democratic way.

Likewise, it is somewhat contradictory to single out Congress for special, hands-off treatment in a political year such as this when there's sound and fury everywhere else.

In a political year—even in wartime—we habitually go through a process — not always refined and gentlemanly, it is true — which consists of each party analyzing and dissecting and slam-banging the personalities and attitudes of the other. If Congress is in session the process goes on there as elsewhere, but there's no cause to be righteous about it.

Already we have had two national party conventions in which speaker after speaker ranted and complained about people and policies in the other, with gloves off, and in full sight and sound of newspapers, radio and television and scads of correspondents of foreign newspapers.

* * *

Customary Procedure.

IT'S HARDLY likely that anybody in the special session of Congress will find harsher or meaner things to say, for example, about the President of the United States, his domestic and foreign policy, than was said in those conventions, including that of his own party.

Nor is anybody in Congress likely to say anything more critical about Russia and Joe Stalin and his crew than was said at Philadelphia, and the delicate situation at Berlin was building up during those conventions and recounted on the same front pages with convention proceedings and sayings.

After those conventions, we had more spleen spilled down at Birmingham by the Confederate "walk-out" reunion to reveal once again, in inflammatory speeches, a negation of our vaunted democratic way of life in one sector that we are not too anxious to have the rest of the world know about. Yet there it is. That's us.

Congress is very much a part of our government. What it does or does not do is of interest to all of us. President Truman has made an issue of certain of its derelictions and omissions under Republican management, and a very healthy thing it is that this should be all talked out so we can see where we stand and refresh ourselves on Congress before we have to vote on a new Congress.

The truth is that much of the deploring and wringing of hands about Congress coming back is inspired by interests which are fearful that Congress might possibly do something about some things such as housing and health and education and civil rights, and so they bemoan piously and ponderously like Pharisees.

You did not find these people disturbed by the spectacles at Philadelphia and Birmingham, nor bothered about what was said and done at those places about the man who is President of the United States.

No, that was in an entirely different category—pleasing, in fact. Because it presaged the disintegration, temporarily at least, of a once great political party that stood for things and accomplished things contrary to their own selfish interests.

But Philadelphia and Birmingham were in the traditional democratic way. And so is Congress.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dewey, Warren Ahead of GOP Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—What few people, even inside the Republican party, fully realize is that the men at the head of the GOP ticket are far ahead of the Republican Congress which meets in special session today.

The real truth is that Dewey and Warren have much more in common with Harry Truman when it comes to domestic legislation than the Republican party which nominated them.

If there is to be a Republican administration next January, therefore, this special session is the time for the voters to watch their congressmen. They can then go to the polls in November in an effort to give the next administration a workable Congress instead of the present collection of misfits and diehards.

All you have to do is look at the record to see how far ahead of Congress are the two top candidates on the Republican ticket. Here is their record:

* * *

Dewey-Warren Record.

MINIMUM WAGES: Dewey—Extended minimum wages to 500,000 retail workers previously not covered by law; also to 320,000 women in hotels, beauty parlors, cleaning establishments. (Truman has repeatedly urged Congress to extend and increase minimum wages, but no result.)

FAIR EMPLOYMENT: Dewey—Passed a Fair Employment Bill giving equal working opportunity regardless of race or religion. (This is similar to the Truman FEPC proposal.) When the N. Y. board of regents protested against admitting Jews, Negroes and Catholics to New York state universities on the same proportion to the population, Dewey overruled them. He insisted that any religion or race must be admitted to any college in proportion to the population—provided they pass scholastic requirements.

Governor Warren—Urged California legislature to create a Fair Employment Commission to investigate political and economic inequality of minority groups, but couldn't get it through his Legislature.

HEALTH: Dewey—Pushed state aid for local public health work; launched successful program to have free chest X-rays for tuberculosis. Every TB patient gets free hospital treatment. "Cows get free TB tests," says Dewey. "Why not human beings?"

Warren—Aroused wrath of California medical body by urging state-wide health insurance giving prepaid hospital, medical and laboratory care to everyone. (This is the program endorsed by Truman—which makes Senator Taft see red and which most Republicans call "New Deal socialism.") Warren has urged this program at every session of Legislature since 1943.

* * *

"Socialistic" Housing.

HOUSING: Dewey—Built $69,000,000 of post-war emergency housing, which is three times what the federal government has built. This includes 8,581 homes for veterans, 1,179 apartments, 13,678 dormitories adjacent to colleges. Credit goes to Democratic Governor Lehman for authorizing $300,000,000 for a state housing program, but Dewey has added $135,000,000 to this. (This is the type of housing which GOP leaders in Congress call "socialistic" and have refused to pass.)

Of this so-called "socialistic" housing, Dewey says: "Public housing represents one contribution of government to the basic needs of that portion of the people who are economically unable without such aid to maintain a decent standard of living."

Warren—Got emergency housing appropriation of $7,500,000 to help local communities with public housing, and another $2,000,000 for rural housing. Also set up revolving fund of $1,000,000 to buy surplus Federal buildings and building materials for veterans.

REAL-ESTATE LOBBY: Dewey and his top housing adviser, Herman T. Stichman, have consistently opposed the real-estate lobby (so has Gov. Warren), while GOP congressional leaders have eaten out of its hand. Says Stichman: "Certain real-estate groups must awaken to the realization that their unyielding opposition to any program of governmental aid to housing families of low income is a direct invitation to the communists to come in and exploit the resulting discontent. . . . The country where people spent their lives in hovels and shacks was the one that fell first to communism—namely, Russia."

RENT CONTROL: Dewey—Got N. Y. legislature to pass Rent Control Act when he saw OPA was likely to be killed by a Republican Congress.

Warren—Called special session of state legislature July 22, 1946, to stop unreasonable rent increases and unwarranted evictions. He asked that all rents be frozen temporarily, and all evictions stopped except for statutory causes. His legislature, however, turned him down.

EDUCATION: Dewey—Is boiling made at so-called teachers' lobby and believes they are unreasonable in salary demands. Teachers' salaries in New York state are higher than most states, though still woefully inadequate. Dewey helped get teachers one raise and argues that local communities should take greater interest in education, not leave it to state. After war, he called N. Y. college presidents together, helped them get extra facilities to increase their enrollment 100 per cent.

Warren—Has good-naturedly twitted Dewey about paying teachers such low salaries that they migrate to California. In 1946, Warren got legislature to increase state aid to local districts and fix minimum teacher salary at $2,400. In 1947 he got another $20,000,000 for state aid to impoverished school districts; also initiated extra education for veterans so they could continue their studies on state money after federal funds ran out.

President Truman has repeatedly asked Congress to pass federal aid-to-education bill. No results.

That is the record of the two men at the head of the Republican party—almost identical, except in detail, with that of the man at the head of the Democratic party. It will be interesting to see what the Republican Congress does about it.

Assignment: America

Lobbyists Are Recalled

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Not all the senators and representatives are back in Washington, even today, but if you call the roll of those most ubiquitous of all congressional camp followers—the eternal lobbyists—you'll find the lads all present and accounted for.

In fact, from all appearances, there seem to be a few new recruits around for the special session, although a quick check of the congressional lobbyists registration books out on Capitol Hill indicates otherwise. But then, maybe the newcomers just haven't been able to find the right directions to get out there yet . . . maybe.

In any case, the local lobbying business has been on the upswing ever since that hot and sticky night in Philadelphia when President Truman climaxed his acceptance speech by announcing that he was going to call a special session.

Prior to that time, it had been a pretty busy year all around for the lobbyists, anyway.

The much-discussed Eightieth Congress itself had provided a field day for those well-financed citizens who float around town, peeling that folding stuff off large rolls and otherwise using their personalities to influence the passage of legislation, one way or the other.

Nobody can say the boys didn't work hard, and since there were so many highly controversial issues before the Congress—varying from atomic energy to renaming Boulder, oops, Hoover dam—they didn't get much rest until the adjournment.

Even then, being far-sighted citizens who know which side next year's bread is buttered on too, they didn't dare take a rest, but hurried home for a quick shave and shower, kissed the wife and caught the early train to Philadelphia.

During two conventions (it seems they didn't worry about Wallace last week), they hustled around the City of Brotherly Love, laying the groundwork for future operations within the Eighty-first Congress. And it is no secret that they were somewhat weary and looking forward to a brief vacation when Harry blew the whistle for a special session.

* * *

Again In Battle Array.

SO NOW, the mountains and the seashore are as far away as ever, and the boys already are striving mightily within the capital city.

The anti-public housing crowd is adding new men, bracing for the renewal attack to pass the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill. The anti-price control people are checking their field-pieces and issuing iron rations. The butter and the oleo boys have dropped their temporary truce and already are digging in, ready for the new H-hour.

The mimeograph machines, scarcely yet cooled from last session, are spinning wildly again and handouts and publicity blurbs are falling like leaves in October.

The battle which was not expected to begin until January, at the earliest, already is under way.

But, lest the gentle reader be too saddened by this spectacle of overworked legislative consultants—as they love to be called—let it be quickly said that the lobbyists themselves are not complaining.

A lobbyist's living is a hazardous thing at best. If he is paid to plug for passage of certain measures, then the moment he succeeds he finds himself out of work. For this reason, many of the boys are partial to "lost causes" — which never have a chance of passing—or else prefer to lobby against unlikely legislation, on the theory it's steadier work.

But still it's no secret that once a bill is passed or seemingly decisively defeated, a lot of small fry lobbyists are laid off and must scurry about elsewhere to scrape up the rent and grocery money. And just such a fate was facing many a one when Truman turned the special session crank.

So all the old-timers are happily back at work again. And sooner or later the newcomers will show their hand.

Then maybe they'll remember about the law, and take the trouble to march up to that musty old office out on Capitol Hill and register.

We shall see.

Farmer's Diary

'Tiger of the Air'

By CALVIN A. BYERS

APPROACHING the woods at nearly dusk, I heard the heavy hoot of a great horned owl. I paused to listen. The quiet sanctum of the out-of-doors became articulate, as again and again that urgent call gave all the living tree-tops voice.

I walked south over a hill and crossed the old rail fence that bordered between the woods and the grassy rolling field. Here I noted a friendly woodchuck grazing on some heads of clover that grew only a few feet from the entrance to his burrow.

I sat quietly watching him for a little, wondering if he, like myself, enjoyed the afterglow upon the sky, and the warm contentment of the perfect summer evening.

Then, out of the dark woods, a feathery form cleared the trees and silently swooped upon the startled groundhog. It was the fierce barred owl, with jaws snapping.

Its wings spread three feet wide, and its strong sharp talons grabbed and gripped into the rodent's fur.

Chuck fought back fiercely. His weight was in his favor. The sharp claws of his forepaws made the feathers fly. In no time at all both the owl's neck feathers and the rodent's breast fur were red with blood. Then the owl hooked its talons about the woodchuck's neck and literally dragged him from his home.

There he lay, bedraggled and bloody, breathing his last. The owl, perhaps sensing my nearness, flew away.

"That's where our chickens go, I'll bet," exclaimed one of the boys when I related the incident. "Every day or two when I count them, there's one less on the roost. Maybe that owl just carries them off."

Sometimes owls carry off young lambs or little pigs, too. They are the fiercest winged predators around the country.

Unlike most birds, the female owls seem to lack family instinct. . . . The eggs are laid sometimes in the snow, and as soon as the young ones fly she destroys the nest, so they cannot return to an established home.

Sometimes this "tiger of the air" varies its hooting with feline yowls and murmurings. It is one of the few birds that will not object to devouring the remains of a skunk.

Timely Editorial

Prodding the Slow-Poke.

The principal emphasis in traffic safety has been directed against excessive speed as a cause of accidents. Not enough attention has been paid to the slow-poke who, in his own way, can be a definite traffic hazard.

Every driver knows what happens on a busy highway when a slow car holds up others. Long lines of creeping automobiles form. In a desperate effort to get out of these parades, drivers take chances and the result is often an accident. The slow-poke, indirectly, is responsible for what happened.

On some super-highways traffic police make a definite effort to speed up traffic for this very reason. In Mississippi, for example, a new law provides that no vehicle be driven at less than 30 miles an hour on Federal-designated highways where no hazards exist. Busily traveled thoroughfares are no place for the excessively leisurely driver.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Horoscope

For Tuesday, July 27.

Although the sidereal operations point to very expansive and productive openings for large scope and action, with objectives and ambitions of more than major consequence, yet there is also omen of a befuddled state of mind or a curious or inexplicable churning of the feelings, emotions and inclinations. A tricky state of affairs, incited by confusion and chaos, possibly due to an agitated physical condition, may determine excellent prospects. Under such critical circumstances it might be well to postpone action.

Those whose birthday it is, are under splendid promise for the consideration of important openings for highly productive and ambitious programs, seemingly with every indication of assistance from influential sources. Yet the personal judgment may be so chaotic or beclouded by strange feelings or emotional urges as to make all endeavors not only difficult but dangerous. The mental and nervous tension make it advisable to postpone operations. Seek stimulus and relaxation through warmhearted friends.

A child born on this day, while having some indication of success, efficiency and large ambitions, may find itself unable to cope with singular conditions or disturbances of mind and body.

Schedule of Coming Events

TUESDAY

Library committee, Women of the Moose — Mrs. Dallas Tupps, 312 Vennum avenue, hostess, assisted by Mrs. Fred Lewis.

Linnaeus Garden club — Meeting at 11 a. m. for a brunch; Mrs. C. E. Payne, hostess, at her home on Millsboro road.

American Legion Auxiliary Bridge club — Meeting at the Legion home with Mrs. B. O. Smith as hostess.

Delano Auxiliary, No. 6 — Mrs. Nick Blocher and Mrs. Floyd Welsh, co-chairmen at Delano hall.

Ladies' Auxiliary of the Letter Carriers' Association — Family picnic at Liberty park.

Add chopped green pepper and red pimiento to scalloped or creamed potatoes for a festive touch.

RENNEL HELPS MEDINA LADY LOSE 64 LBS. IN SHORT TIME

Mrs. J. A. Gonser gets desired results with Rennel.

"Before taking Rennel, I was very overweight" writes Mrs. Gonser. "Rennel is easy to take and since taking it I have lost 64 pounds. Thanks to Rennel, I feel much better."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomforts of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasure of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results, return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist upon genuine Rennel. —Adv.

Overzealous Mothers Can Cause Children To Be Fussy Eaters

OVERZEALOUS mothers may cause their children to become fussy eaters by attaching undue importance to making certain the children eat everything placed before them.

"A well child has a good appetite, but may become a fussy eater if his mother forces food, makes eating a struggle, makes him think meals unpleasant," an article declares in the August issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"A mother may think her child will lose weight or become weak and sick, so she considers it her duty to make him eat, whether or not he wants food. Perhaps, forgetting the child's welfare, she merely wants him to be as plump as some friend's child.

"A healthy baby will let you know when he's hungry. Feed him only when he wants food; don't force him to eat. You can give him the right start toward good habits."

Nature is the best regulator of how much nourishment a child needs, according to the article which warns against forcing food on a child.

"Respect his right to determine how much he needs," the article states. "Nature regulates this. Fruit, fruit juices, and plenty of water between meals should be available. But don't offer food until the next meal, and then give it casually and without urging. Small quantities and second helpings, if asked for, may be better than a plateful. Remember that your emotion makes the impression on the child. He will forget from one meal to the next unless you call his attention to his failure to eat or stress his eating. Never bribe, urge, or force. If you can't control your anxiety, the meals should be served by someone else."

What Makes A Good Newspaper

Editorial Independence

The News-Journal believes that it has a definite and clearly-defined service to render to its readers in the presentation of news and the analysis of the news in its editorial columns.

As an independent newspaper, the editors of The News-Journal work by this creed:

"This newspaper's editorial policy is neither influenced nor controlled by any advertiser, manufacturer, banker, utility company, politician, labor leader, pressure group or organization."

In gathering and disseminating news, The News-Journal policy stresses accuracy, thoroughness and "both sides of every story." In every case, it is axiomatic with The News-Journal that all reporters and editors owe their first responsibility to the newspaper's readers.

In the daily job of printing the news and in the task of analyzing the events of the day, the reporters and editors are required to keep uppermost in their minds the creed that:

If the public is kept well informed of the happenings in our community and throughout the world and the nation, of the decisions and acts of government's various branches and of the 1,001 other things that make up the daily content of a newspaper, the public will uphold its democratic responsibility and the welfare of our community, state and nation will be secure.

From time to time, The News-Journal believes, there are occasions upon which the duly-installed and authorized servants of a democratic people fail in their trust. On many such occasions, The News-Journal has exercised its constitutional right of freedom of the press to speak out and to place such derelictions before the public and strive for betterment of such situations.

Some of the more recent examples of this have been the exposure of open, commercialized gambling being permitted to operate in Mansfield without official interference; disclosures of the prejudiced; dictator ship exercised over the radio industry by the Federal Communications Commission; revelation that the city's water supply was becoming inadequate and that immediate action was needed to insure a supply sufficient to provide for the health and safety of Mansfield citizens.

These are only a few of the ways in which this newspaper seeks to render service to the community which it serves. These are a few of the reasons why . . .

Ration Plan For Meat to Be Proposed

Truman, Advisers Work Out Details

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Paul A. Porter, former OPA administrator, said today the White House has worked out details of a meat rationing program to be recommended to the special session of Congress this week.

Porter was called in by President Truman to work out a program that was reported to include both meat rationing and price controls.

He, declined to comment on whether the rationing proposal would beat wholesale levels or whether there would be any similarity between the new recommendation and the wartime price control and rationing program

Porter said he did not plan to join other White House officials who were scheduled to confer with Mr. Truman later today aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg on the Potomac.
